TWO RICHLAND FLIERS DIE IN AIR ACCIDENT

Lieut. Robert P. Spreng, Mansfield, Capt. Elmer Parsel, Plymouth, Killed.

WIRES ADVISE RELATIVES

Both Men Believed to Have Been Killed in Same Crash on Far Eastern Front.

Two Richland county fliers, Second Lieut. Robert P. Spreng, 28, of Mansfield, and Capt. Elmer L. Parsel, 36, of Plymouth, met death April 2 in an airplane accident in the far eastern war fronts, the war department announced in Washington today.

Both men were based with United Nations forces in India. They were the first Richland county casualties reported in World war II.

Lieut. Spreng, a bombardier instructor, enlisted in the air corps in September, 1940. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Spreng, 414 Park avenue west.

Capt. Parsel, who recently won the Distinguished Flying cross for displaying extraordinary courage in battling the Japs over the Philippines, had been a pilot since 1937. He is the son of Williiam Parsel of near Plymouth. His mother lives in Columbus.

Although the terse war department message gave no details concerning the accident, it appeared that both men were killed in the same crash. Telegrams sent relatives of both men were identical.

The telegram received by Spreng last night read:

"Deeply regret to inform you that information received death of your son, Second Lieut. Robert Paul Spreng, United States army.

SUES TO BLOCK FREEWAY WORK

Cuyahoga Taxpayer Names State Highway Chief, Others In Injunction Action.

COLUMBUS — Charging that bribery and collusion had been attempted and that the project would require use of 1,500,000 pounds of iron and steel "in actual defiance of national needs," S. A. Horvitz of Shaker Heights today filed a taxpayer's suit seeking to block work on a $1,713,080 grade crossing elimination project in Cuyahoga county.

Named as defendants are State Highway Director Hal G. Sours; State Treasurer Don H. Ebright; State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson; Samuel C. Lombardo, Joseph C. Lombardo, Mary Lombardo, Lena Lombardo, John G. Masoni, and Helen Masoni, identified as co-

Five Arrested In Liquor Raids Get Muny Court Fines

Five colored Mansfield residents, arrested early March 29 in a series of "bootleg" raids by state liquor agents and Mansfield police, switched previous innocent pleas to giulty this morning in municipal court and were fined $100 and costs on charges of illegally selling and possessing liquor.

Another colored resident, Pauline Willis Hollroy, 63 East Sixth street, maintained her plea of innocence, but was also fined $100 and costs on a charge of illegally selling liquor.

The six persons arraigned this morning were part of the 10 arrested by liquor agents and police when they swooped down on five suspected "bootleg" places early March 29.

Two colored residents, Willis Glenn and Sterling Scarborough, charged with the illegal sale of liquor, pleaded guilty and were fined $100 and costs each when arraigned on March 30. They were charged with selling liquor at 97 East Sixth street.

The other eight persons arrested in the raids asked for a continuance until today. Charles

The others were Sylvester Buckamneer and Truman Drake, both of Newport.

BUILDING CURB PERILS SCORES OF JOBS HERE

War Production Order Halts All New Construction Not Aiding War Effort.

CHAMBER TAKES STEPS

Sends Delegation to Cleveland Requesting Designation of City as Defense Area.

Jobs of scores of carpenters and contractors, and building supply dealers in Mansfield were hit today along with others throughout the nation as the War Production board halted virtually all new construction except that necessary to the country's war effort.

In a move to ease the effect of the order on Mansfield, a Chamber of Commerce committee will go to Cleveland Friday to ask the WPB to designate the city as a defense housing area which would open the way for construction of homes here for war production workers.

The government order, effective today, prohibits any residential construction except maintenance and repair work if the cost is more than $500 and stops new agricultural construction projects which cost more than $1,000.

Government permission must be obtained to start any other type of building, including commercial, industrial, recreational, institutional, highway or utilities, if the cost is more than $5,000.

Headed by W. S. Ross, the Chamber of Commerce defense housing committee will go to Cleveland armed with statistics showing that nearly half of Mansfield's industrial workers are producing war materials and there is a threat of an acute housing shortage in the city.

While the WPB order against residence construction in defense areas has not been clarified, it is expected that some home building will be permitted if there is an

SURPLUS UP

Finance Director Says Ohio Fund Now 15 Millions.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—The surplus in the state treasury increased $1,748,000 to a total of more than $15,000,000 in the first three months of 1942, state finance Director Herbert H. Defenbacher said today.

Income during the first quarter was $2,340,00 more than the same period of last year, according to finance department figures.

Defenbacher said unusually large liquor profits helped to swell the surplus in the general revenue fund. Transfer of liquor department receipts this year totaled $3,000,000 compared with $1,500,000 in the first three months of 1941.

Japs Overwhelmed His Men

Lacking nothing in courage but unable to resist further because of "complete exhaustion" the valiant defenders of Bataan, led by Lieut. General Jonathan Wainwright, above, were overwhelmed today by the Japanese, and most of the force of 36,000 men were either killed or captured by the enemy, who numbered between 200,000 and 300,000.

County Acts to Form Defense Council After State Scolding

Reprimanded by Courtney Burton, executive secretary of the Ohio State Defense council, for failing to set up a Richland county defense council, county commissioners today went to Columbus to confer with Burton on the steps they must take to form an organization here.

In a letter to the commissioners, Burton said Richland county was one of the few counties in Ohio which has not set up a council and he asked them to take "immediate steps" to get an organization under way here.

Commissioner Ray Hout said the board had not taken action "because we never received any instructions about what the state council wanted and we didn't know how to go about it."

He said the commissioners hoped to get a "clearer picture of what's expected of us" in Columbus today and then they would set up a county council to coordinate the work of the other defense organizations in the county.

Burton said in his letter to the commissioners that "We believe you are closer to the needs of the county than any others and want to do all you can for the nation's war effort by forming a council."

WINNING AGAIN

Pneumonia Calls Two Strikes on Ruth, But He Rallies.

HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — Babe Ruth, the mighty bambino of baseball fame and the hero of a generation of school boys, appeared today to be winning the fight for his life at the Hollywood hospital, where he was rushed yesterday in critical condition.

Ruth's personal physician, Dr. R. Nichol Smith, announced at the hospital that the former New York Yankee outfielder was "considerably improved."

Ruth's wife was the only visitor admitted to Ruth's room since he was taken to the hospital. She kept constant vigil at her husband's bedside throughout the night. He was being treated for pneumonia, although Dr. Smith said he was not sure exactly what was wrong with Ruth.

Dawn Comes Up With Thunder of Jap Bombs—Mandalay In Ruins

(Last Friday night, a fleet of Japanese bombers subjected Mandalay to one of the most ruthless bombings of the war. Not until today has any correspondent managed to get the full story out, due to disrupted communications. Today United Press Staff Correspondent Darrell Berrigan describes the destruction of Mandalay.)

By DARRELL BERRIGAN
(UP Staff Correspondent)

MANDALAY, April 4 — (Delayed) — The dawn came up like thunder today.

Through the night a fleet of Japanese bombers ranged the skies unmolested, dropping their death loads.

Tonight, this city of pagodas and tradition lay in smoking ruins.

The prosperous commercial district is a shambles with hundreds of dead and wounded. At this moment, a large moon is rising over the last capital of Burma's kings, casting a dull reflection over the grotesque bodies of men, women and children which remain in the streets.

Casualties are estimated from 5,000 to 8,000, with probably 2,000 to 3,000 killed and hundreds wounded critically, but no definite count has been made yet.

Three-quarters of the downtown district, trading center for Mandalay's 135,000 residents, were reduced to ashes and rubble. Heavy bombs folded brick and concrete structures like match sticks, burying occupants.

No warning was sounded. Had the population been warned in time, casualties undoubtedly would have been lighter.

One area a mile square, where were hundreds of native homes and shops, was burned to the ground by incendiary bombs.

All 12 buildings of the general hospital were burned to the ground.

Exhausted Defenders Fight to End Against Overwhelming Forces

TWO BRITISH CRUISERS ARE SUNK BY JAPS

Powerful Craft That Finished Off Bismarck Downed By Bombers Off India.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—Two British 8-inch-gun cruisers, the 10,000-ton Cornwall and the 9,975-ton Dorsetshire whose torpedoes finished off the German battleship Bismarck little less than a year ago, have been sunk by Japanese bombers ranging the Bay of Bengal and battering at thin-stretched British naval communications to India, the admiralty announced today.

The shock of the loss of the two powerful ships rubbed the gilt off the admiralty's announcement two hours earlier that a British submarine had sent a 10,000-ton Italian cruiser to the bottom of the central Mediterranean.

The sinking of the Cornwall and Dorsetshire was a blow to the British naval strength immediately available to cope with Japanese aircraft carriers and warships reported increasing their activities astride the sea lanes to Calcutta in the bay between the bombed coast of India and invaded Burma.

Announcement of the sinkings came as London naval reporters predicted that "the biggest naval battle in all history seems about to blaze up in the Bay of Bengal between the Japanese and British fleets." (In this connection it

Rain Fails to Cut Big Attendance at Cooking School

It would have taken more than a cold drizzling rain to keep Mansfield homemakers away from The News-Journal's cooking school today judging from the crowd on hand today at the third day's session at the Ohio theater this morning.

Close to 900 women were on hand when Mrs. Emily M. Lautz, nationally known food authority, began her demonstration. They included a home economics class of 24 pupils from Lucas high school. The audience today approximated that of the opening day which set a record for first day attendance.

The cooking school closes Friday morning with a completely new lecture and demonstration and the awarding of the regular prizes plus an array of deluxe gifts presented by the Mansfield merchants cooperating in the school. The program begins promptly at 9 a. m. and doors are open an hour earlier.

Mrs. Lautz instructed her audience today not to serve food just to stop hunger. "We have found thousands of people with plenty to eat and yet were starving because of improper diet," said the lecturer, as she emphasized again the necessity of serving only foods that build and repair the body, give it energy for work and play and keep it in good running order.

Stimson Reveals U. S., Filipino Troops Weakened by Short Rations, Disease; Says Supplies Reached Front; Manila Bay Battle Continues.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson said today that a force of 36,800 Americans and Filipinos went down fighting before overwhelmingly superior Japanese forces on Bataan.

He promised that the fight will not be ended until the invaders eventually are driven out.

Stimson told a press conference that the defenders of Bataan were worn down, outnumbered, weakened by short rations and disease, and that they evidently had been overwhelmed.

But Corregidor, he added, is still fighting on, along with the other Manila bay forts.

He also revealed that President Roosevelt had sent a message to Lieut. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright yesterday, praising his masterly defense and his soldierly conduct and leaving to him any decisions which had to be made.

The war secretary said he could not make available the text of the president's message, but said that Mr. Roosevelt expressed confidence that any decisions reached by Wainwright "would be in the interest of his country and the splendid troops under his command."

Stimson also disclosed for the first time that successful efforts were organized in mid-January to get food and ammunition to the isolated defenders of Bataan.

He said that Brig. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, minister to New Zealand and former secretary of war, had been directed to take every extraordinary step possible to get supplies to Bataan from the southwest Pacific. Hurley was very successful in getting a number of shiploads of supplies into the Philippines, but for every ship that arrived with its precious cargo, nearly two other ships were lost in the attempt, Stimson said.

Stimson said that owing to these efforts, the defenders of Bataan

COUNTER: British Thrust at Rommel, Sink Italian Cruiser

(By Associated Press)

Britain's desert armies, swiftly countering the threat of a new drive by 125,000 troops under Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, were reported seizing the initiative with attacks on advanced Axis positions in North Africa today, while at sea, the British reported the sinking of a 10,000-ton Italian cruiser in the central Mediterranean.

A London admiralty communique said that a British submarine torpedoed the cruiser, which was escorted by destroyers and aircraft, and that eight minutes later the warship "was heard to break up and sink."

Premier Mussolini's high command acknowledged that the British were counter-attacking on the Libyan front, but asserted they had been beaten off.

British headquarters at Cairo said that British troops were engaging Axis forces at Sidi Bregisch, about 75 miles south. west of Tobruk, and that other British columns had captured a number of Axis troops between Tmimi and El Gazala.

El Gazala is 40 miles west of Tobruk; Tmimi 20 miles farther west.

ACCORD: Agreement Between Cripps, Indians Called Certain

(By Associated Press)

NEW DELHI, India—A general understanding on the main issues between the All-India Congress party and Sir Stafford Cripps is as good as reached, it was reported today.

As far as the Congress party, potent Hindu voice on whose approval the protracted and complex negotiations for post-war Indian dominion status hinge, it now appears that there will be no difficulty or delay in the establishment of a national government in India.

This development came after another day's proceedings began on a rising note of optimism with Pandit Jawaharal Nehru, the congress leader, conferring with Louis Johnson, President Roosevelt's personal emissary, and the congress working committee again in session at Birla House.

After a one hour meeting with Nehru, Johnson saw Cripps. His lengthy meetings last night with members of the Congress party and the British envoy had brightened hopes of an eventual settlement.

The Congress working committee, it was believed, now may issue a statement on the final terms tomorrow or, at the latest, Saturday.

The All-India Moslem league working committee's resolution was expected also to be released about that time. The league is the dominant voice among the great Moslem minority in India.

VICTORY AIDES SEEN AS MODEL DEFENSE UNIT

30,000 Volunteers In St. Paul Form Women's Organization.

(By United Press)

ST. PAUL, Minn.—Minnesota is organizing a women's defense corps which may serve as a pattern for other states.

Gov. Harold E. Stassen has ordered mobilization of 30,000 volunteers into the women's Victory Aides. Their principal function in the state's home defense organization will be the maintenance of civilian morale.

The corps was placed under the direction of Mary Keeley, state social welfare worker, and divided into military units under captains, lieutenants, and sergeants.

One member of the Victory Aides will be recruited for each block of built-up area, for each 100 population in suburban districts and for each half township in rural areas.

E. L. Olrich, state defense coordinator, says that headquarters companies in each locality will organize and operate volunteer registration bureaus to be established as a part of all local civilian defense councils.

About 6,000 women are being recruited from Minneapolis and 3,000 from St. Paul.

One of the first duties of the Victory Aides will be to visit each home in the state. Governor Stassen says the organization "will utilize the women of Minnesota in an orderly and effective manner, to contribute to the strength of the nation, to maintain a high morale at home, and to increase our total preparedness."

Each aide, who must live in the territory assigned to her, is required to:

1. Inform herself of the general facts of the defense program and activities in the locality, state, and nation.
2. Make friendly calls at each home within her area.
3. List and report all families having members in the armed forces and express to them the community's appreciation.
4. Advise each household of the conservation of scarce materials and the scrap-gathering campaign.
5. Report through her superiors to the regularly established governmental agencies any instances of welfare or assistance problems that do not appear properly cared for.
6. Encourage participation in the Victory program through the Red Cross, purchase of defense bonds and other volunteer services.
7. Carry out any other assignments which may be given her.

Bataan Falls; 36,000 Trapped By Japanese

were never short of ammunition for either small arms or artillery.

However, our troops had been on short rations since Jan. 11.

"That long strain was a very potent factor in wearing down our troops and placing them in a situation where they could no longer rebound as they did so many times earlier," he said.

In addition to the effective fighting men, there were crowded on Bataan about 20,000 refugees who had fled from Manila and followed the American troops to the peninsula.

There were also about 5,000 natives employed as laborers.

Stimson said he could not tell how many of the defenders were killed, wounded, or captured.

Aside from saying our forces were greatly outnumbered, he would not hazard an estimate as to the number of Japanese that opposed them. Estimates generally have placed the Japanese army at 200,000

The 36,800 defenders included a comparatively small force of regular U. S. ground troops, air corps [personnel that had been converted to infantrymen after their air equipment was lost, Filipino scouts and Filipino troops that had very little previous training, and some navy bluejackets and marines.

As for the immediate situation there Stimson said:

"The communique issued at 5:15 a. m. represents the latest information that we have on Bataan. Our troops, outnumbered, worn down by attack, exhausted by insufficient rations and disease prevailing in that area, had their lines broken and enveloped by the enemy.

"Our defenses on Bataan have been overthrown. Corregidor is still fighting.

"A long and gallant defense has been worn down and overthrown.

"There is nothing but praise for the men who have so ably conducted an epic chapter in the history of the Philippines.

"The Philippines now have been united with us in battle as well as linked by the co-operation between the United States and the Philippines during the last 40 years."

The defending troops were without air support of any substantial character for some time. Stimson recalled about a month ago there were only four pursuit planes available on Bataan and that they had succeeded in sinking five ships in Subic bay. Stimson said that he has not heard anything further about aircraft on Bataan and he presumed that none existed when the final break came.

The problem of hold the islands will probably be one of supplies and defense against sea assaults, since the rock shelter tunnels and the heavy concentration of anti-aircraft batteries have already demonstrated their ability to withstand air attacks. The British island of Malta in the Mediterranean, also rockbound, has taken the heaviest bomb pounding of the war without being subdued.

Military experts here have been pessimistic for several days about the ability of Wainwright's weary men to hold out much longer against the relentless offensive unleashed, by the overwhelming forces of the Japanese. But most of them, even yesterday, believed that it would at least be several days—maybe as much as two weeks—before Wainwright would have to withdraw completely to Corregidor.

The peak of the Japanese attack came yesterday when fresh assault troops were rushed into the front lines frequently, dive bombers and attack aircraft mercilessly bombarded the defenders' front lines and heavy enemy bombers harrassed Wainwright's rear and supply depots.

There was fear here that Japanese envelopment of the east flank might have cut off Wainwright's main road of retreat. The only major road on the southern end of Bataan peninsula runs down the east coast to the southern tip of the peninsula. If the Japanese were able to dominate that the men on the west flank might find it difficult to push their way through the mountains and jungle rails in the interior.

The most heartrending part of this morning's communique was the section revealing that the attempt of the first corps of Wainwright failed "due to complete physical exhaustion of the troops."

Those men have been under fire continuously for five days. Whereas the Japanese have been rushing fresh assault troops into battle, Wainwright has had to depend upon the same men, 24 hours a day, day-after-day, to repulse the new assaults.

The greatest handicap for the American-Filipino forces has been the lack of aircraft. The Japanese have been using all types of planes for five days—five bombers, fighter planes for strafing ground troops and heavy bombers. Against those the defenders have had virtually no defense except for the few anti-aircraft guns at their disposal. And the lesson learned in this war is that the only defense against attacking aircraft is aircraft.

The next phase of the battle for control of Manila bay will be the battle for the island forts. The big guns on Corregidor, and at the forts on three other small islands at the entrance to the bay probably will be able to keep the enemy at bay as long as ammunition holds out.

But if the Japanese, after consolidating their successes on Bataan, launch an all-out, 24-hour-a-day attack on those fortresses, the available ammunition may not last long.

The Japanese are a long way from complete domination of the Philippine islands which comprise hundreds of small islands spread over many hundreds of miles. The American-Filipino forces, for example, still hold the island of Mindanao, to the south of Luzon, and yesterday the war department reported that the defenders had staged a successful raid there captured a Japanese outpost and forcing withdrawal of several Japanese units.

The objective of the Japanese offensive on Bataan, however, has been to gain control of Manila bay. So long as Bataan was held and while the island forts remain in American hands the bay—the best in the Far East—can not be used by the enemy.

MANSFIELD'S ANXIETY DEEPENS

News of the collapse of American-Filipino resistance at Bataan brought a new and deeper anxiety today to the families of five Mansfield youths known to be on that besieged peninsula.

Most of the families had heard from their sons only last week, receiving letters that had been written seven weeks before and somehow brought back to this country.

It was feared that it would be a considerable period before any definite word is received concerning any individuals in the Bataan force. Secretary of War Henry Stimson said today that no casualty lists were yet available.

He made it clear that Filipinos comprised the bulk of the peninsula defenders, the Americans being made up largely of the 31st infantry regiment, crews of two tank battalions and units of self-propelled artillery units sent to the islands last summer and fall, plus air force ground crews and sailors and marines from the abandoned Cavite naval base.

Five young men from Mansfield—Albert L. Allen, Paul Grassick, George Zimmerman, Earl Charles and John E. Robinette—are members of a tank battalion at Bataan. Also in the tank force there are Robert Miller of R. D 4. Mansfield, and John Minner, of Port Clinton, brother of Mrs. A C. Adams of Mansfield.

Another Mansfielder, Nelson B Hale, has been in the Philippines and is believed to be at Bataan.

extreme shortage of homes for war workers.

Representatives of the Mansfield Building Trades council said it was too early to say how many carpenters and electricians would be thrown out of work because of the order, they asserted that it would be "a severe blow to the workers in the building trades."

David S Creps, business agent for the A. F. of L. Carpenters and Electricians' union, said 97 per cent of the organization's 1,500 workers are already on war jobs and probably would not be affected by the building curtailment.

"Most of our men are employed at ordnance plants in Marion, Sandusky and Ravenna and we are in a position to place the others in similar jobs," Creps said. "But we are not happy about the whole thing," he added

It has not been determined whether work on construction jobs now under way will be halted The WPB order, however, indicated that such jobs will be inspected and work stopped if inspectors believe materials going into them are essential to the war effort.

was recalled that Axis reports last week declared powerful British naval units had been sighted speeding around the Cape of Good Hope en route to the Indian ocean and the Bay of Bengal.)

Japanese broadcasts quoted imperial headquarters claims that in addition to the cruisers Japanese forces sank 21 Allied merchantmen in the Bay of Bengal up to last Tuesday, and badly damaged 28 other ships.

Heard, too, but without any other confirmation, was a Berlin broadcast quoting dispatches purportedly from Tokyo that Japanese expeditionary forces supported by cruisers, and destroyers landed last Sunday on the Burma west coast and were within 30 miles of the Bengal border of India.

That would place them between the border and the big Burma port of Akyab.

Earlier roundabout reports that the Japanese had forced their way ashore at Akyab have been denied by the British headquarters at New Delhi.

The admiralty's announcement did not say when the Dorsetshire and Cornwall were sunk.

A communique said both warships went down under Japanese aerial attacks, but 1,100 of the crews were picked up.

There was no intimation what other warships were operating with the cruisers. The fact that 1,100 crew members were saved indicated that other ships were on hand.

The Rome radio reported that the remaining units of the British squadron were engaged in a running sea fight with stronger Japanese naval forces.

SUES TO BLOCK FREEWAY WORK

partners of the Lombardo Construction company, and the Herkner Construction company.

The action was filed through Horvitz' attorney, David R. Hertz of Cleveland, former Cuyahoga county common pleas judge; in the Franklin county common pleas court. Suits against the state must originate in Franklin county.

The suit charges that "improper influence" had been brought on Sours to award the contract last Jan. 19 to the Lombardo company, sole bidder on the project with a bid of $1,344,680.

Horvitz requested an injunction to restrain the defendants from continuing with any work or preparations for the project, described as the Willow Run Freeway, and from paying out any money in that connection while the suit is pending.

The suit charged that Sours awarded the contract to the Lombardo company although he was advised that a confidential employe of the Horvitz company had been offered a $300 bribe to state whether the Horvitz company would bid on the job, and another bribe of $1,000 to disclose the Horvitz price to the Lombardo firm.

The complaint stated that the project would use 1,500,000 pounds of iron and steel, large quantities of other materials, fuel, and equipment, and extensive labor.

Another charge was that if the project goes forward it will not be completed until October, 1943, and that at that time it still would not be of any value to national defense or to the travelling public.

When the project is completed, it still will not have surface pavement and the freeway will be of no use to the public until additional work not yet planned or provided for has been completed, Horvitz said.

The complaint named W. P Tooley, an employe of the Lombardo firm, as one who allegedly offered the bribes.

The Lombardo company was charged in the suit with failure to comply with federal requirements that it specify subcontractors and the value of subcontracts in its original bid The suit charged further that Sours permitted the firm to file additional letters later in connection with the same bid

The Lombardo Construction Company has the contract for a $497,552 grade elimination project on Route 30 at the western limits of Mansfield.

The project calls for construction of an underpass and overhead and paving between the two improvements, for a distance of 1.7 miles, from the Mansfield city limits westward.

The Russians said 139 German transports assigned to supply isolated Nazi troops on the northwest front—in the bloody Staraya Russa sector where the German 16th army has been trapped for weeks—had been blasted out of the skies.

The Berlin radio said massed Soviet infantry and tanks had broken through German lines northeast of Orel, 200 miles south of Moscow, but declared that several days of hard fighting had restored the Nazi line.

A bulletin from Hitler's field headquarters, which lately has been stressing Nazi offensive operations, reported tersely today that "various powerful attacks by the enemy were repulsed" on the Moscow and Leningrad fronts.

In aerial warfare, RAF bombers pressed their spring offensive against the Reich, attacking the key port of Hamburg and other objectives in northwest Germany as well as the docks at Le Havre in German-occupied France.

The British air ministry acknowledged the loss of six bombers in the night forays.

TWO RICHLAND FLIERS DIE IN AIR ACCIDENT

Lieut. Robert P. Spreng, Mansfield, Capt. Elmer Parsel, Plymouth, Killed.

who was killed in an airplane accident in the Far eastern theater April 2. Not due to enemy action. Letter follows:

The message was delivered to Spreng by Ralph Moorhead, at the Spreng cottage southwest of Alta, where Spreng and Moorhead were to be honored at a birthday dinner by fellow members of the Wash Day club, an informal organization of business men.

Mrs Spreng had not received the news of her son's death yet today. She has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Harry Finefrock and Mrs. Ann Miller, former Mansfielders, in Gulfport, Miss.

She left Gulfport yesterday and was to arrive in Louisville, Ky., at 4 p. m. today to visit another son, Second Lieut. Richard Spreng, who is stationed with the Quartermaster's supply department at Jeffersonville, Ind. Spreng left early today by train to meet her.

A similar wire was received by Mrs Parsel in Atlanta, Ga., where she is living with her parents, the captain's father told The News-Journal today. She telephoned him last night after receiving the message

Parsel said the war department's message gave no details other than that the accident occurred on April 2.

It was a queer quirk of fate that sent Lieut. Spreng overseas, members of the family related today.

They said they had received a letter from him in December in which he said he had volunteered for overseas duty in place of a married man with a family who had been among the few to be picked for the job.

Young Spreng wrote that his entire unit of some 30 bombardier instructors had volunteered when the call was received, but only a few were picked at that time, drawing lots for a chance to get into action. At the time he was stationed at Muroc Field, Calif.

Members of the family last heard from him two weeks ago. He was based at Bangalore, India, presumably with United Nations forces instructing foreign pilots in the use of the Norton bomb sight, the government's closely guarded secret, in which he had been schooled.

He graduated as a bombardier instructor at Lowry field at Denver in March 15, 1941, and received his commission three months later.

Spreng last visited Mansfield in July for the marriage of his only sister, Mary, to Robert Finical. He telephoned his parents Christmas eve to tell that he was going overseas.

They later received a letter from him telling of an eventful air journey to India.

At that time he said one of the machine guns of the huge ship had jammed and that a stop was made in Florida for repair. the plane later reaching Africa where it nosed over.

He told of repair of the plane and then of the flight to South Africa when the ship was damaged beyond repair in a take-off.

He wrote that he went to India as a passenger on another plane, giving no details of the accident.

Young Spreng was born in Mansfield Nov. 4, 1913. He attended Mansfield senior high school and graduated from Culver Military academy in 1931. He later attended Ohio State university, majoring in general business administration. He was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, social fraternity.

Spreng was associated with the King insurance agency at the time of his enlistment. Both he and his father were members of the Elks lodge and Mansfield Kiwanis club.

Word of his death was announced at the Kiwanis club luncheon today by Charles Fuchs, president. A committee consisting of Attorney William F. Black, T. A. Siegenthaler and W. B. Ford was appointed to draft a resolution of tribute to the deceased flier.

Spreng is survived by his parents; three brothers, Harold P., and Charles K., both of Mansfield, and Lieut. Richard Spreng, of Jeffersonville, Ind.; a sister, Mary, and his grandmother, Mrs. S. E. LeMunyon, Mansfield.

Capt. Parsel was born Sept. 18, 1906. He graduated from Plymouth high school, and began flying in 1927. He worked for a time on his father's farm, then went to Peoria as a garage mechanic to pay for flying lessions He later purchased a plane and flew it from a pasture landing near Plymouth.

Following a barnstorming tour he was hired by Richland Flying club, a group of Mansfield fliers, as an instructor in 1934. He remained at municipal airport for two years, many of Mansfield's early pilots getting their wings under him.

It was during his stay in Mansfield, that he oined the air corps reserves. He entered active service in 1937 taking a refresher course at Randolph and Kelley fields in Texas.

Capt. Parsel visited here last September with his wife, a Georgia girl, the first licensed woman pilot in Georgia. He left his small monoplane here. It is hangared at Gages airport.

Capt. Parsel was awarded the Army's Distinguished Flying Cross last month for skill in piloting a giant flying fortress in a raid on Japanese transports and supply bases in Lingayen gulf on the northern tip of the island of Luzon.

His father reported that he received a letter from his son Tuesday. He said he was in India and that he had been promoted to commander of his group and was not flying as much as formerly.

The letter said he was in good health and asserted that the Japs could be licked if more planes and supplies were sent over.

Parsel is survived by his widow, Mary; his parents; a brother, Charles, of Canton, Ill.; a sister, Mrs. Glen Frakes of Plymouth, and his grandmother, Mrs. Martha Brown of near Plymouth.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, APRIL 9, 1942.

Uncle Sam's nerves are steady and he's developing his muscle.

Wars are not won by sitting in defensive positions, and still less by withdrawing to positions previously prepared.

Reminder: All the other shortages become necessary in order to make sure there will be no shortage in planes, guns, ships and tanks.

Geography Becomes Fascinating

EXTENT to which this war reaches out to parts of the world that have heretofore been given little attention by average Americans has enlivened interests in geography to marked degree.

Traveled from east to west, or from north to south, the United States seems large—but looked at on a fair-sized globe, or on a large world map, continental United States loses some of its impressiveness, in comparison with the vast land and water areas that constitute the "world."

But, also, Germany occupies a quite inconspicuous area on the world map, as does the island empire of Japan and the British Isles. It is as Europe merges into Asia, with Soviet Russia spreading stupendously east to Bering Strait—a short jump from Alaska—that some idea is gained of the large part of the world that carries the title, "Union of Soviet Socialist Republics," and of the rich prize to which Nazi Germany aspires on one side and Japan on the other.

Look at the map again and note that Australia, with its 7,000,000 population, is approximately the size of the United States, then glance directly north and wonder how that thin strip which is Japan could develop the military power necessary to recent accomplishments.

Get the island of Ceylon, just off the coast of India, located on your map, for you'll be hearing more about this isle "where every prospect pleases and only man is vile"—that you remember from the old hymn.

And—while the map is handy—"refresh your recollection," as the attorneys say, on the location of Iraq, Iran and the Persian Gulf, because these places are more likely to be in the news during coming months than spots much closer home.

Possibly more important, however, than study of geography, a look at the map of the world gives a better idea of the immensity of this war than can be gained in any other way.

Home-Town Boy Gives Life

NEWS of the death of a Mansfield young man, who was in service in the Far East, brings the reality of war's danger closer home than the frequent reports of casualties which involve loss of many lives.

Bob Spreng was a Mansfield boy, born and reared here, and typical of the spirit and courage of America's young manhood. War required that he go far away from his home, family and friends, and fate decreed that he should not return.

Dangers of many kinds cannot be avoided, and life is uncertain at the best, but these dangers are multiplied under conditions of war, either through accidents or enemy action, and while it may be hoped, it cannot be anticipated that all who go from here will return safely.

Even now there is a feeling of deep concern over those young men from Mansfield and vicinity who are serving with American forces in the gallant struggle that has been going on for many weeks on Batan peninsula, and which now seems nearing the end of resistance to overwhelming Japanese manpower and air supremacy.

Those who give money and work to their nation's war effort, however much of sacrifice this may involve, have contributed but little as compared to those who give their lives, or the lives of loved ones, for the preservation of liberties without which death would be preferable to life.

Industrial Patriotism Exemplified

AT A TIME when many complaints of war profiteering are being heard it is reassuring to learn of the large sums voluntarily saved for the government by the North American Aviation Corporation, of Kansas City, and Continental Motors, Inc., of Muskegon, Mich. The former returned $14,000,000 already paid to it on army warplane contracts, when it found that with improved tools and production methods it could cut the cost of the government order one-third. The latter gave a shining example of patriotism by voluntarily reducing its contract prices for aircraft and ordnance material to the extent of $40,000,000. The saving in this latter case was generously attributed to "increased efficiency and co-operation of employes." Thus labor gets a credit mark along with capital.

It would be pleasant to have a steadily growing honor roll of this kind as the war production program proceeds. There are vast resources of practical patriotism in this country, hardly tapped yet, that will become evident as soon as the great needs are more fully realized.

Where Brotherhood Is Real

A MOVING bit of war experience comes from an American captain in Batan, seriously wounded lately but now back in the "fox holes" with a Distinguished Service Cross for "extraordinary heroism." He writes to his family:

"The morale of the men is supreme. Right now I hear some of my little brown brothers singing 'God Bless America.' I have never developed the affection for any man or woman that I feel for my soldiers. I can't describe it, but after living and working with them I can realize what they mean when they speak of the love of men.

"I've been preparing for this job since I first went to Fort Benjamin Harrison 11 years ago. Now that I am a commander in the field with my soldiers, I have found my place in life. Seventy of my company have been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross. So you can see that my boys have been in there pitching."

Seldom has the idealism of "the brotherhood of man" appeared more practicable than in this statement of its application to an actual condition. The experience of fighting in a common cause is a great leveler of artificial barriers.

Donald Nelson rather bluntly says that "streamlining doesn't mean anything much"—and the term does seem to have been somewhat overworked.

More About Rubber Substitutes

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—The responsibility for failure to do something about synthetic rubber production, when it was urged on the government by the oil companies, lies pretty high up in the administration. As pointed out in these dispatches recently, there is no thought here to criticize the judgment then exercised. There is certainly a defense for what was done. At that time the government had every reason to believe that a war with Japan could be averted.

Had this conviction, based on the very general underestimate of Japan's strength, been correct, there would never have been a shortage of rubber here. Not only that, but the taking of East Indian rubber was the only way this country could get any payment for huge amounts of war supplies, this country was pouring out. So that it was a question of "free" rubber, so to speak, as against highly expensive synthetic rubber.

BUT the more fact that an action in the past was intelligently based on the facts then at hand is no protection against popular resentment. It is all right for the historians, perhaps, but even then there arises the point that if the persons involved had been wise they would have known ALL the factors, and not been caught napping.

All of which means that certain highly-placed officials, including the president of the United States, are desperately anxious to find a substitute for rubber used in making tires, so as to avoid their being blamed by the public for the inconvenience and worse that will be caused to the American way of living by the "mistake" of not having developed synthetic rubber shortly after the war assumed world proportions.

The plain truth, as historians will see it, is that this government ought to have realized the day Holland was overrun by the Nazis that our rubber supply from the Far East was in jeopardy. We had no way of knowing that Japan was as strong as she was, but historians will not be lenient in appraising the judgment of officials who were so badly informed.

THIS is what is clearly realized NOW in Washington. Hence there are various moves under way to prevent the shortage of rubber becoming so important here that it may become a major incident, to be noted by the historians.

If some way can be found to keep most automobiles rolling in this country, historians are not going to criticize the lack of new cars, or even a shortage of gasoline.

This being the situation, or rather the view of the situation taken by those whom the historians would be inclined to blame, the whole problem is now up to the resourcefulness of American inventors; with the odds very heavy that if Mr. Average Citizen does not go to work in an automobile two years hence it will be for some reason other than lack of substitute tires.

It will not be possible to pin the blame, as historians see it, on oil companies. The same administration was in power during the period of these particular sins of the oil companies to which Thurman Arnold is now trying to call attention. So we are going to have substitute rubber tires, and pretty good ones too.

Health Questions Are Answered.

—By DR. CLENDENING

L. B. A.: "Is the flu type pneumonia or any other type contagious?"

Answer: Genuine influenza is very contagious in any form. Other types of pneumonia have not been found to be very contagious. For instance, other members of the household where a pneumonia patient is being nursed or hospital attendants do not often catch the disease, but there is no question that the inhalation of sputum particles and droplets from the patient's breath are infectious to people. For this reason the pneumonia patient's bed should be protected by sheets and attendants should wear gauze masks.

Daily Reader: "Would the eating once a day of lamb or chicken and occasionally a little beef be injurious to one who had had a stone in the kidney?"

Answer: Scientific experiments have shown that a meat or protein diet has nothing to do either with the formation or the aggravation of a stone in the kidney.

M. E. C.: What foods are beneficial to low blood pressure?

Answer: No foods affect the blood pressure in one way or the other.

W. M.: "What are the spmptoms of angina pectoris? Can a person gain weight who has it? Can a person continue at his regular employment?"

Answer: Angina pectoris is due to a spasm of the coronary artery of the heart. It is usually associated with high blood pressure or hardening of the arteries elsewhere in the body. It is possible to gain weight while having angina. Whether or not the patient can continue with his regular employment depends on how severe the work is. People with angina should not do heavy work or anything which causes a great deal of exertion.

Shipping Muddle on East Coast Causes Many Delays and Losses

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

(Editor's Note—This is the second of a series on the crucial U. S. shipping situation.)

WASHINGTON—There are two major phases to the U. S. shipping picture, currently the sourest spot in the war program.

One, discussed two days ago in this column, is the problem of speeding the production of hundreds of desperately needed cargo vessels. As revealed in that article, this vast program is being seriously hampered by waste, inefficiency and pilfering of public funds and materials.

The other phase is the equally vital job of loading and routing the great fleet of merchant ships needed to supply the embattled war machines of the United Nations. Here too the story is often the same—mismanagement, tragic waste and worse.

The picture is not all black. As in the case of shipbuilding, the situation on the west coast now is very good—thanks to recent marked improvement due to the appointment of a regional shipping czar, Dean Wayne Morse of Oregon university. Authority was centralized in his hands on the joint recommendation of ship operators and the CIO longshoremen's union, the dominant maritime labor organization.

But on the Atlantic coast the picture is very different. There it smells to high heaven.

Following the excellent results obtained by the appointment of Morse, the president advised War Shipping Administrator Emory S. (Jerry) Land to clean up the dismal east coast mess the same way. The inside word is that Land balked under pressure from the operators and Jack Ryan, burly boss of the AFL longshoremen's union, which rules the Boston, New York and Philadelphia waterfronts.

Rival CIO marine leaders charge that behind the opposition of Ryan and the operators is the fear that under an impartial federal shipping czar and the CIO unions will wrest control of the waterfront from them. But whatever the reason, it is a fact that Land has resisted taking the step that has produced such excellent results on the west coast.

Appearance of Sabotage.

IT IS ALSO a fact that the ship loading situation on the Atlantic coast has become so bad that the justice department and Truman committee have started probes that already have uncovered shocking evidence.

These disclosures are so serious that insiders say it is practically certain there will be arrests and prosecutions on criminal charges.

These are some of the things discovered by the investigators.

1. That large numbers of known members of the bund, Christian Front and similar organizations are permitted to load ships carrying war supplies to Britain and Russia.

2. That one ship broke in two and capsized in mid-ocean due to improper loading. Tanks and other heavy equipment had been loaded fore and aft and light materials amidships, violating the first rule of ship loading to distribute a cargo evenly. Investigating agents are convinced this was sabotage.

3. Shifting cargo forced another ship to turn back from a Russia-bound convoy. The vessel was torpedoed and sunk a day later.

4. Five other vessels which developed cargo-shifting trouble also had to turn back, but fortunately escaped Nazi subs. However, to save them from breaking up and capsizing, a considerable portion of their precious war cargoes had to be thrown into the sea. When the ships landed it was found that in two of them there were no cotter pins in the shackles to which wires and chains, securing the cargoes, were fastened. This was chalked down by investigators as another clear case of sabotage at the loading port.

5. Recently in Philadelphia a number of longshoremen belonging to a certain pro-Axis organization boycotted a ship assigned to carry important fighting equipment to Russia. The vessel was held up more than a week. Fifty-four men working in staggered gangs of 18 each could have loaded this ship easily in two days. Yet due to some mysterious influence the necessary 54 men could not be immediately found in this teeming port city.

Note—Several weeks ago, in an effort to clean up the bad ship-routing muddle that had developed under Land, the president brought back Lewis Douglas, one-time budget director, from London, where he was assisting Lend-Lease Co-ordinator Averell Harriman, and put him to work on the problem. Douglas already has greatly improved the routing situation.

Shenanigans.

CHINESE Ambassador Hu Shih called on the president the other day, and took time out from war problems to say:

"Mr. President, I am a great admirer of your radio talks. Your delivery is superb, but even more remarkable is your choice of language." Roosevelt thanked the ambassador for the compliment, but Hu Shih had more to say. "It is your mastery of simple language, which I most admire—your scorn of polysyllables and academic phrases.

"But," continued Hu Shih, "there was one word in a recent broadcast which I couldn't understand. It was a four-syllable word, and you seldom use four-syllable words."

"What word was that?" asked the president.

"Shenanigans," said the ambassador.

War Chaff.

IF YOU think U. S. taxes are stiff, here are a few facts on what the British taxpayer is up against: British war taxes now are so steep that there are practically no incomes over $25,000. Sales taxes range from 12 to 24 per cent. The tax on the cheapest brand of cigarets is 14 cents a package; $2.30 on a bottle of whisky, and 10 cents on a pound of sugar. . . . When CIO President Phil Murray addressed a public meeting in Charlotte, N. C., he was introduced by Dr. Frank Graham, head of the University of N. C., and prominent among the audience were the governor of the state and the mayor of the city. Also, Murray was extended a cordial welcome to Charlotte in a full-page newspaper ad paid for by local business men and AFL unions. . . . Lt. General Ben Lear, plain-talking commander of the Second army, made his widely quoted speech before the Economic club in Detroit at the personal request of Undersecretary of War Robert Patterson. Lear's candid speech and equally blunt actions are highly esteemed among top war department officials.

TODAY IN HISTORY

In April 9, 1940, proclaiming "protection" of Norway and Denmark from alleged Allied designs for the duration of the war, Germany invaded these two countries by land, sea and air. Resistance in Denmark was practically nil, King Christian having advised his people to submit. General resistance arose at once in Norway and King Haakon, his family and government were forced to flee to Hamar.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE

Editor's Note—The following communications, touching on a Washington Merry-Go-Round article printed Wednesday, April 1, reached The News-Journal at so nearly the same time that it is possible to use them in the same issue—which is being done without comment.

Editor News-Journal:

There is no truth in the Merry-Go-Round story of April 1 about me. The subject was never mentioned between the president and me, and I am informed by Sidney Weinberg that he never at any time made any such statement to anyone as that accredited to him.

Practically all references to me and my work by those columnists over the years have been made for the purpose of injuring me, and where there has been any basis for reference to me, the facts are maliciously distorted through innuendo. This article is typical of their column.

I have been informed that you subscribe to this column and might be interested in my statement.

JESSE JONES

Washington, D. C.

Editor News-Journal:

Mr. Jones' statement that the president did not inform him he would have to relinquish his control over loans to small business is patently disproved by the fact that President Roosevelt last week issued the order stripping Jones of this authority. The announcement was publicly made at the White House.

Regarding the exchange of words between Jones and Sidney Weinberg, this information came from an official who participated in the conference. My informant holds an important position in the war agencies and I know him from long experience to be a man of complete reliability and integrity with no axe to grind. The Merry-Go-Round has at no time made any statement with the purpose of injuring Mr. Jones. We are interested solely in reporting the facts. It is not our fault if the facts in handling the rubber situation reflect upon Mr. Jones' good judgment.

Everything we printed exclusively about his handling of this situation has been confirmed by officials and congressional committees. As recently as May 1941 Mr. Jones publicly reported that 'We have rubber enough to run us at least one and one-half years if we were cut off tomorrow from a supply of natural rubber.' This is no innuendo. It is a plain statement of fact typical of the column.

In a formal report today (April 2) the senate committee investigating the war program described an agreement between Jesse Jones' Defense Plant Corporation and Basic Magnesium, Inc., a private firm, as 'one of the most flagrant attempts at war profiteering' to come to its notice. The company, the committee said, is asking a royalty of $1 a ton on ore, which would mean an annual return of $280,000 on a total investment of 'not over $50,000'."

Timely Editorial

Job For Counters.

How much is $150,000,000,000—the approximate amount so far appropriated or authorized by congress for war? Sen. LaFollette, trying to make that figure comprehensible, points out that it means a billion and a half $100 bills. To count that many $100 bills, at the rate of one a second, the senator calculates a man would have to work steadily, never stopping for sleep, rest or meals, for about 47 years and six months.

It seems slightly improbable that any man will volunteer for that job, and it shouldn't be necessary to draft one.

For the Census Bureau has just reported that there are now 4,800,000 persons on federal, state and local governmental payrolls, or about 1-12 of the country's employed population. That's enough public employes to count 15 billion dollars' worth of $100 bills in five minutes, 12½ seconds.—Columbus Citizen.

Farmer's Diary

Bloodroot

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE WOODS floor now is white with bloom. The bloodroot stems hold shyly up their modest leaves like umbrellas before unfolding. By the old rail fence, I stopped and with a finger touched a fine white opening petal.

This small colony grew on a southeastern slope where the reflection of the mild spring sun from the rails and grass caused it to be the herald of all the race of bloodroot to follow during the next ten days.

It was the largest bloom I saw by the woods today—its whiteness made more vivid by its yellow center. About the tardy under side of the leaf small drops of dew were clinging, as though the delicate plant were reluctant to let this hint of morning pass. The dark green translucent stems felt cool when I touched them lightly.

The flower looked upward to the sky, clothed so humbly and yet more gorgeously arrayed than kings. A wondrous symbol of the Easter season — some power had rolled the stone away and it came forth robed in celestial light.

As I knelt and drew my nostrils close, I found it had no special fragrance, as a flower, but instead the green, growing odor of woodland plants. It grew so close the ancient, sagging, lichened worm fence that the lowest crumbled rail, deep sunken, had formed its nourishment as well as its shelter—and so became a part of its living, unrivaled beauty.

No bees came near to mount the whited petals and seek nectar. I wondered if in its soft yellow bosom, any formed. The fleshy bleeding rhyzomes eating through the moist spring earth assure each clump abundant life and sustenance.

No farmer's plowshare would ever come so near that it would cut apart this modest, thriving family. The grazing herd would not seek it as a delicacy, but rather the sweet succulent bluegrass that grows even while being cropped.

As I lingered there—nor cared to go away—I felt how wonderfully this lonely fence corner by the border of the neglected woods was glorified today. Just here the rejuvenated earth had bloomed again, while the rich blue of the sky seemed just above the budding forest trees.

Predicts Rubber Situation Will Be Readjusted

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—(INS)—California Highway Commissioner L. G. Hitchcock predicted to a San Diego audience that by July, 1943, the rubber supply situation will be "readjusted" to the satisfaction of American automobile owners.

"There is no reason why American ingenuity cannot work quickly to make us independent of our former sources of crude rubber within 19 months," Hitchcock declared.

"Untapped rubber fields in Brazil and Mexico, synthetic rubber production in the country, and the guayule bush in the United States should provide on a large scale all the rubber we need by the middle of 1943."

He predicted that whether or not motor traffic interferes with military activity and not the threatened rubber shortage should influence motorists to garage their cars for the duration.

CLINIC PLANNED

Pre-School Exams This Year To Be Held In May.

Plans for the annual pre-school clinic held to provide medical examinations for children entering school for the first time next fall were under way today in the office of Dr. William B. Wild, city-county health commissioner.

Examinations will be conducted in May this year for children entering both city and county schools. Parent-Teacher associations throughout the Richland area will be asked to co-operate in rounding up the potential first graders before the examinations are scheduled to start.

Dates will be set later according to Dr. Wild, who said that one week would be devoted to Mansfield school pupils and another week to county students. Last year, due to deterring circumstances, the examinations were not held until August. At that time 263 city children were examined and 60 from the county.

No direct medical attention is given during the pre-school clinic but the remedial defects of each child are listed and referred to their parents for correction before school starts.

Richland County To End All WPA Jobs by June 30

With all WPA projects except those necessary to the nation's war effort scheduled to close by June 30, Richland county's active projects will be reduced to two by the end of this week by the closing of two federal-aid projects that have been in operation for several years.

County commissioners said a sewing project employing 13 persons at the county relief headquarters, has been closed by order of the federal government.

The county road and bridge project which now employs only 24 men will be completed at the end of the week and the men will be shifted to the sewage plant job in South Boulevards, according to Walter E. Rusk, assistant county engineer in charge of WPA road and bridge work.

The South Boulevards job, one of the two projects that will remain, now employes about 70 men. The other active project is the county housekeeping aid set-up, employing 40 persons. The sewage project is scheduled for completion before June 30, while the fate of the housekeeping aid project is uncertain.

Rusk said there is a possibility that eight men will be put to work in May rebuilding the Koogle-Harlan road near the Charles Mill reservoir under the WPA program, but the work will be finished before the June 30 deadline.

The WPA projects, which at the peak employed more than 1,200 persons in the county, are being eliminated in the interests of economy and because workers are taking defense jobs, county officials said.

Flowers Have Their Beautiful Important Place!

"With each passing season homemakers have come to keener appreciation of the important place of flowers," Mrs. Lautz told us as she visited Kafer's today. "The flower is America's symbol for sentiment and today, with our boys at the fighting front and the rest of us carrying on here on the home front, the beauty of that symbol whether its message is one of love, courage, sympathy or congratulation, is more important than ever before."

CHAPTER XVIII

"Do you love me, Cassie?"

He felt her stiffen. Her voice was thin and colorless as she answered.

"I don't know, Parris."

He was suddenly angry, but even in this half-dark he could see the haggard, ravaged look that came into her face.

"Never mind, honey, never mind. If you don't want to say it—but somehow I guess I just want you to say the words."

She stood quite still as though his question had somehow taken away her power to move or think. There was, he thought, almost a look of horror on her face.

"Never mind, Cassie darling, I—"

"Please don't say it, Parris. Everything is perfect until we try to talk about it. Don't try to understand me."

Back of all the stormy questions that arose against her strange retreat was one small cool question that thrust itself into the heated melee of his resentments. She never permitted him to say that he was in love with her. Just here he was obscurely aware of some justness in her, some intimation of her own that dictated her behavior.

She was something to him that escaped clear definition. But always she troubled him. The slightest thought of her—the most casual image of her that drifted into his daydreaming—carried unrest with it. He couldn't feel treacherous or that he was betraying the man who helped him, however much he said so to himself. Some other emotion effectively blocked them off. No: all that he and Cassie were to each other seemed to have its existence in a separate world—a world of their own in which they were accountable only to each other. It was like — some almost forgotten words came easily to his mind—it was like his and Renee's "secret lake."

"Parris!"

"Yes, Renee?"

"What did you say?"

It was still dark when they reached the gate on Cherry street.

"Good night, Parris."

He kissed her. "Good night—my sweetheart."

Parris' heart grew heavier and colder with every step. He did not wish to go home. He felt shut out of it.

He went slowly up the terrace steps and to his room. He had been there but a few minutes when Anna knocked and opened the door.

"Ach, Parris, you are here!"

"Yes. I just came in. I—I was out."

"I know. I know. I came for you at midnight when Dr. Gordon left."

Parris sprang to his feet.

"She—is she—?"

Anna looked out of the window at the coming dawn. "Since then," she went on, "she hasn't known anything. I called for you, but you were not here. I thought maybe—I hoped, Parris, maybe it would be over before you came in." She spoke rather apologetically.

Parris did not answer. He was not even thinking. This was the hour. All the long dread and apprehension and terror had led to this dull leaden center where he felt nothing—seemingly realized nothing. Every nerve was numb.

"Parris, I think maybe you better come now."

"Come — go — in — there?" He pointed like a small child toward the door.

Anna nodded. "Yes. Come. I go with you."

Madame was propped high on her pillows. Her face was white and expressionless; her eyes were nearly closed and deeply sunken.

"Anna. She is asleep?"

Suddenly a low rasping sound grated through the room. Parris started with a kind of terror. He had heard that sound once before. Lucy Carr!

"Anna!" The whisper was wrenched from him.

Parris clenched his hands. "Anna—stop it—some way!"

Anna laid her hands on his shoulder. "Listen to me, Parris. This could go on for many hours. I think—I think I cannot stand it. Listen to me, my child—if I take the pillows from under her head she—she will die quickly. Think now—it is for you to say."

The color left his face. He looked back at Madame and then, very slowly, back to Anna. He nodded slowly.

"Yes," he said. "Quickly."

Very gently Anna removed the pillows and dropped them on the floor. Parris felt as if screams were trying to tear their way out of his throat, but he made no sound.

Presently a long, hesitant sigh fluttered on Madame's lips, and stopped.

"You go now," Anna said quietly.

The week after Madame von Eln's funeral, Parris made necessary arrangements with Colonel Skeffington and Patterson Lawes of the Burton County Bank about his funds, the sale of the property. Tom Carr and Benny Singer he took care of out of his own expense account. Then, leaving Anna in charge of the sale, he moved in with Drake McHugh.

"I couldn't go back—out there," he told Lawes and Skeffington.

"A gentleman, Colonel," observed Patterson Lawes when Parris had left.

The Colonel did not answer. He was making great ado with his handkerchief.

"Amazing to see a youngster take the death of an old woman so hard."

Parris was sorting and packing books. He sat back on his heels and wiped his face on his sleeve.

"It's been awfully good of you, Drake, to take me in—just now."

"Aw—"

"I haven't been—I guess I can't be any fun to be with."

"I wanted you to stay here. I wish you wouldn't go away at all."

"I half wish so, too, Drake. Or—that you'd come along."

"Nope. Guess my place is round here."

"Drake."

"Yep."

"You haven't said anything about Louise."

"Ain't seen her—to talk to her—since that day you came along."

"You're not fair to her."

"How do you figure that out?"

"Well, she can't follow you around and try to see you."

Parris reached for a pillow and put it under his head. "Gee, I'm too tired to get up from here."

"You've had a pretty big day, kid. Take it easy. . . . Listen! What's that?"

"What's what?"

"I hear someone running up the drive."

Parris sat up. There was a rush of steps on the long side porch, then a quick knock at the door. Drake opened it, and Cassandra Tower came into the room. She was out of breath and a little disheveled. Parris struggled awkwardly to his feet.

"Cassie! What's up?"

"I've got to talk to you a minute."

Drake wheeled a chair forward. "Sit down, Cassie."

She looked at him and nodded but remained standing.

Parris stared curiously at Cassandra. She had that look he had seen a few times before—desperate—a sort of shocked desperation.

"Sit down, Cassie. What's the matter?"

Her eyes seemed to come slowly to focus, almost as if she had difficulty in seeing.

"Parris — you remember the other night?"

"Of course!" His voice was suddenly hoarse.

"You said — when — when you came back—would I marry you."

"Yes, Cassie. I meant it. I'll say it again."

"Parris!"

"You look scared."

"You—you did mean what you said?"

"Of course I did."

"Then let me go with you—now."

"Now?"

"Yes, now. I've got to. I'll run away somewhere—let me go with you. I—I can take care of you."

"But Cassie, I don't understand you. I—why. I can't get married now. I've got to get through—all that study first. Why—" He stopped. It seemed an unbelievably absurd proposal. Why—he almost wanted to say he wasn't grown up yet.

Suddenly, every vestige of expression left her features. Her face seemed to go dead.

"Never mind." Her voice, too, seemed utterly lifeless. She turned to go.

Parris was beside her instantly. "Wait a minute, Cassie. Sit down, and—and tell me what's happened."

She looked as if she didn't hear.

"Nothing, Parris. Nothing at all. I—I must go."

"Here. I'll take you home."

"No, no! No, you can't. You mustn't. I'm all right, now."

SOCIETY & CLUBS

ANNIVERSARY DINNER GIVEN WEDNESDAY

McLaughlin Women's Relief Corps, Sarah E. Lewis Junior Club Honor Special Occasion at Memorial Hall.

ANNIVERSARIES of the McLaughlin Women's Relief Corps No. 26, Auxiliary to the Grand Army of the Republic, and the Sarah E. Lewis Junior W. R. C. were celebrated with a 6 o'clock dinner at Memorial hall last evening. A large group of friends, including mothers of the junior club members, were in attendance.

On April 4, 1884, the senior corps was organized. It derived its name from a Civil war major, William McLaughlin. On March 31, 1933, Mrs. Jane Neff organized the junior club in honor of her mother, Sarah E. Lewis. Thus, the occasion marked the fifty-eighth and ninth anniversaries, respectively, of the groups.

Anniversary cake served as centerpiece for each of the tables. Candles and decorations in patriotic colors completed the attractive scheme. Committee in charge of arrangements for the dinner was comprised of Miss Mary Beilstein, Miss Ida Hunter, Mrs. Clara Calver, Miss Nora Bentley, Miss Emmabelle Jackson and Mrs. Nettie Young. Numerous large, silk American flags decorated the club room.

Mrs. Neff and Mrs. Bess Buchanan, president of the W. R. C., presented the program which consisted of vocal solos by Betty Edmonstone, piano solo by Mary Ellen Hoopes, vocal solo by Carol Becker, "History of the Junior W. R. C.," given by Mary Ann Edmonstone, charter member and past president. Marjorie Ferguson furnished three selections on the vibra-harp.

A play entitled "The Junior Club Reports" was presented by 18 junior girls who gave interesting information on proper display of the flag and outstanding historical events. Those who participated were the following: Ruth Wagner, Naomi and Eileen Locke, Beatrice Shade, Mary Ellen Hoopes, Norma and Ada Keekley, Marilyn Joyce Teeter, Patsy, Betty and Mary Ann Edmonstone, Beverly Simons, Joanne, Marian and Mae Mitchell, Mary Ellen Raisin, Eloise and Carol Becker.

Naomi Locke of the junior club presented a recognition pin to Mrs. Sarah Case, retiring president of the senio rgroup. Marilyn Joyce Teeter sang two numbers accompanied at the piano by her mother, Mrs. Leroy Teeter. Mrs. Ethel Constance, past president of the W. R. C., gave a history of the organization, followed by three vocal solos by Fred Jackson. "Toast to Our Flag" was given by Miss Anna Horn. The program was concluded with group singing of the national anthem and recitation of the Pledge of Allegiance.

The Sarah E. Lewis junior club will meet Friday, April 10, at 2 p. m. in Memorial hall. Next meeting of the senior W. R. C. will take place at the same place at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday, April 22. Red Cross sewing will be done in the afternoon and the regular meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. on the same date.

Garnette Hanna Becomes Bride Of Corp. Beer

Announcement is being made today of the marriage of Miss Garnette Ruth Hanna and Corp. Harold Beer, which took place in Richmond, Va., on April 7. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Arthur W. Newell in St. John's Evangelical church. For her wedding, Mrs. Beer was attired in an aqua dress with black accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Duvall, 141 Washington avenue, is an employe of the Mansfield Telephone company. She was graduated from Mansfield Senior high school. Corporal Beer is a graduate of Madison township high school. He is the son of Mrs. George Statler, Lincoln Heights, and H. E. Beer, Rowland avenue. Before his induction into the army more than a year ago, he was employed by Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. He is now located at Camp Lee, Va.

Corporal and Mrs. Beer will arrive in Mansfield in a few days. The bridegroom will spend a furlough here. Mrs. Beer will make her home with her parents while her husband is in service.

Talk Given by Mrs. Balyeat On "Plastics"

Fourteen members and one guest, Mrs. H. G. Balyeat, were present when Mrs. L. L. Kochenderfer was hostess to the Conversational club at the Susie Janis home on Wednesday. There was a short business session after which Mrs. Frank Wendt introduced Mrs. Balyeat as guest speaker.

"Plastics" was the subject of Mrs. Balyeat's talk. She spoke of their importance to the modern woman and their relation to war efforts. Tea was served with Mrs. Wendt and Mrs. R. D. Iden presiding at a table decorated with spring flowers. Next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Hal Kroegher, Chevy Chase road, on April 22. A sealed program will be presented.

There are about 4,500 native reindeer owners in Alaska.

Annual Meeting Held By E. L. K. Sewing Circle

Annual meeting of the E. L. K. Sewing club was held Wednesday at the Nurses' home. Luncheon was served in the Mansfield General hospital dining room to 16 members and three guests, Mrs. J. D. Dilmore, Mrs. W. M. Arbaugh of Canton, and Mrs. L. O. Fonkalsrud. Mrs. W. B. Osborne was elected president of the organization for the coming year.

Virginia Chew Tells Club About Popular Books

Hostess to the Mansfield Junior Sorosis club at her home last evening was Mrs. Eugene Linham, 33 Glenwood boulevard. Nine members and one guest, Miss Virginia Chew, were in attendance. After the business session, Mrs. Andrew Mott gave a paper in connection with the club's hobby, "Aviation." She stressed the importance of air power.

Miss Chew gave an interesting talk on "What Mansfield Is Reading." She said that since the war began in 1939, there has been an increase in books by foreign correspondents. She told the club that the Public Library has arranged a war information shelf which contains books about armed forces, civilian defense and nutrition.

Librarians have observed that there has been an increase in the demand for books about jobs for defense workers, technical books, American history books and biographies. In fiction, books with American history as the background are popular. Mystery stories and "Westerns" also are well-liked. Miss Chew stated that war novels are not as popular as the other types of books.

The speaker named some of the books that are most popular on the reserve list. First among nonfiction publications is William L. Shirer's "Berlin Diary." Other books that are very popular with Mansfield readers are "Kings Row," "The Sun Is My Undoing," "The Moon Is Down," "Dragon Seed," "Windswept," and "How Green Was My Valley."

Refreshments were served by the hostess. Miss Esther Snyder, 65 Bartley avenue, will be hostess for the meeting scheduled for April 22.

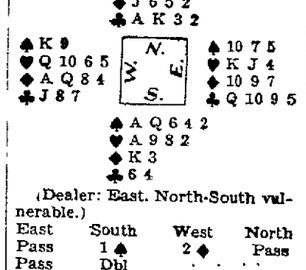
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

THE TIME TO BE WARY

"LOOSE TALK MAY COST LIVES," according to a series of posters being distributed by the Ambulance Corps. It is true, because we are up against dangerous enemies prepared to take advantaeg of any opportunity we present them. By the same token, careless overcalls may cost a bridge player plenty of points if he is up against highly competitive opponents ready to double him when he sicks his neck out. In fact, the more highly competitive they are, the more careful he had better be in his bidding.



(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♠	2 ♦	Pass
Pass	Dbl	. . .	. . .

At several duplicate tables, West tried that diamond overcall after South's spade bid and escaped punishment because North was bent on his side playing the hand. In one case he immediately bid 2-No Trumps over it and in another 3-Clubs. In still another, North passed on his first turn and South bid 2-Hearts. All of these resulted in No Trump contracts by North and South, nobody managing to make game. At another table, North let South play it at spades, following his partner's rebid, and they failed to make game.

The bidding reported above, however, was by the most vigorously competitive pair in the game. First North's pass of the 2-Diamonds was to see if the opponents would get into still more trouble. Then South's double, in preference to a rebid of spades or a heart call, was to give his partner a chance to do just what he did, pass if he wanted to. It was set two tricks, for a top score of 300 points.

South ruffed the third club, laid down the heart A and led a second heart to the K. The diamond 10, K and A and the diamond Q left North with the trump J and 6. West knocked out the J with another diamond lead, but a spade to the A enabled South to lead a third heart, giving North a ruff with the diamond 6. That made seven tricks for the defenders, setting the contract two tricks and producing 300 points, whereas the most any other pair made was 140 for managing to make 3-Spades—90 for tricks plus 50 for the contract.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

It was the voice of Gus, my father's trusted guardian at the hideaway, now calling at the door, and I gave a cry of relief which was almost a sob. It was not only relief from the fear I had experienced at the tardiness of the men in getting to the house, but also thankfulness that I did not have to go on with the precarious task of standing over the impersonator of Professor Diswell with my small silencer pistol.

"All right, Gus!" I called shrilly. "I'll unlock the door in a second."

Then I spoke again to the man against the wall.

"I'm backing to the door," I told him, "with my pistol trained on you. It would be useless for you to make any move to escape, as well as extremely unwise, unless you wish to risk another bullet wound."

"I can wait," he said sullenly, "until my own men get here."

The words were like a dash of cold water on my face, for I knew that we would face a desperate battle if the gangsters coming in the other armored car should arrive before we were able to get away. But, as cold water often does, this stimulated me to faster action. I backed rapidly to the door, turned the key and threw it open to admit Gus, Bill and Joe, of my father's men, and the volunteer Jim Watson, from Warren, who had told us of encountering men in the armored car, whose inquiry about the road to Professor Diswell's had aroused his suspicion so much that he had planned a rescue party on his own account.

"Are you all right, Missis Graham?" Gus asked anxiously.

"Yes, yes, Gus, perfectly all right," I answered. "But we must work fast now. I haven't time to explain much. Two of you tie that man up — the one who's standing by the wall. I had to shoot him in the wrist. When we get out of here I'll attend to that, but we haven't time now. You other two, come in the next room with me."

I was deliberately throwing a sop to Gus. I knew how he loved to be the general on the job, so I was leaving the disposition of the men to him, and he fairly leaped at the bait.

"Bill and Joe, you tie that fellow up," he said, "and me and Jim Watson will go with Missis Graham."

"What will we use for ropes?" Joe demanded.

"We'll send you out plenty in another two minutes," I told him. "On second thought, one of you will be enough to guard him with a revolver until time to tie him up. The other one come with us."

"Stay with him, Bill!" Gus commanded. "Come along, Joe!"

Bill took up his position behind the man against the wall, and the others followed me into the next room.

"Good God, Professor Diswell!" Jim Watson ejaculated, as he rushed up to the old man and began to work with expert fingers at the cloth twisted and tied behind his head. "What have they done to you?"

Gus had gone to work upon the gag in the other man's mouth, while Bill dropped on his knees in front of the younger man and began to untie the ropes tying his feet together.

I was on my own knees working at the ropes binding the ankles of the old professor, and it was a matter of only a minute before we were able to turn them around and undo the ropes that tied their arms behind their backs.

The old professor slumped to the ground from sheer weakness as soon as his bonds were loosened, but the younger man clutched at Gus and raised himself to his feet, swaying a little but evidently possessing plenty of reserve strength.

"Thank you," he croaked through stiff lips bruised and caked with blood. "You — came just in time."

"Don't talk," I said, "unless you have to. Just put your mind to work on what you wish to take with you. An armored car with several gangsters in it is on its way here to help the imposter in the other room. We must get you two out of here and to safety as soon as possible."

"Have your Cake— and save your sugar, too!"

Says Mrs. Emily M. Lautz, Lecturer at

Mansfield News-Journal Cooking School

Good news for women who like to bake for their families! The shortage of sugar doesn't mean that you have to give up cake-baking. You can enjoy at least one delicious cake a week—and even two—if you pick your recipe wisely. Here for instance is a real "Victory" cake recipe—it takes only ½ cup of your precious sugar. And since it calls for only two eggs, it's thrifty in every way. Clip this recipe and try it soon!

RECIPE—

VICTORY APPLESAUCE CAKE

½ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
2 eggs
½ cup molasses
2 cups cake flour
3 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon soda
1 cup applesauce
½ cup raisins

Cream shortening; add sugar slowly; beat well. Add well-beaten eggs and beat until well blended; add molasses. Sift together dry ingredients—and do be sure to use Royal Baking Powder! Now, more than ever, you can't risk wasting ingredients on cake failures. Royal's steady action makes feathery light, tender cakes. And since it's made with cream of tartar, a pure fruit product, Royal never leaves a bitter taste. Sift dry ingredients; add alternately with applesauce. Add raisins. Bake in greased square pan in moderate oven at 350° F. about 1 hour. Makes 1 nine-inch square cake.

GEN. JOHNSON: Proposes Special Levy On War Income

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON—A good deal is being said nowadays about how much farther along war production is today than it was in the same elapsed time after we declared war in 1917, with some hint that our WPB is that much better than the war industries board.

It is a pain in the neck. In the first place, why shouldn't we be much farther ahead? We had the lessons of the Allies' and enemies' experience for almost three years to go on. The Allies had the later experience and methods of the war industries board already partly blocked out and we had sent missions overseas to learn what they were doing.

Gen. Johnson.

Also we had in some sense become an "arsenal of the democracies"—and of the enemies of democracy too. Many of our plants were turning out guns, shells, trucks, ships and munitions—chiefly explosives and propellants We had stepped up our war production very greatly and knew a great deal about dealing with military buyers and specifications.

Furthermore, and most important of all, is a point frequently overlooked. We soon found out that, whereas the Allies had reached the peak of their manpower, we were nowhere near ours.

They had more arms-making capacity than they what to do with. What they needed most from us was principally raw materials for both their arms and ours. We had it in plenty and we did not have the factories to convert it into finished arms

It so happened, therefore, that we sent them the steel, chemicals and food that they needed to make arms and bought from them most of our artillery, a lot of our ammunition and nearly all our airplanes.

We furnished them food and shoes and only such instruments of war as trucks and parts of tanks.

It is a fact that only about 10,000 rounds of artillery of American manufacture—mostly shrapnel which was not in great demand—was fired from the American lines at the enemy. Only a few American airplanes left the ground and they were dangerous and of little use except for training.

This is not to belittle the American effort. Without our raw materials the Allies could not have held. There were more American soldiers in the AEF than the BEF ever had in France at any one time. The American navy made it possible for them to get there. It kept the sea-lanes open and made practicable the North sea mine barrage.

American money also financed the latter part of the war for the Allies It is unfair to say that we won the war for them, but it is no more than justice to say that we made their victory possible and that, without us, they could not have prevailed.

They did prevail They did so because our war and pre-war preparation made our industrial participation possible. It is perhaps a bootless discussion, but when men of the present war-generation go out of the way to say that we are now farther along than we were last time at this stage of industrial preparation they should know their facts.

The most telling charge against them is that, with the experience of the last war all documented and prepared before their eyes, they are not at least two years more advanced.

They have neglected the lessons of the past. They have permitted the experience of a quarter century ago to pass for nothing When they did adopt it, they did so without understanding hearts, with closed eyes, and "too little and too late"

The less said about all this the better Let's buckle-to and do the job now. That is what the country needs and expects

HIGH SCHOOLS OF U. S. WILL TRAIN PILOTS

Commissioner of Education Outlines Set-up For Elementary Course.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The nation's high schools soon will be geared to the elementary training of pilots to fly America's great air armada.

J. W. Studebaker, U. S. commissioner of education, disclosed today that the plan contemplates the teaching of aeronautics in all high schools where 15 or more prospective air cadets can be enrolled.

"It is expected," Studebaker said, "that recommendations for pre-pilot refresher courses in physics and mathematics soon will be sent to all school systems of the country—these recommendations to be followed soon thereafter by the publication of detailed suggestions emanating from the army and navy as to the course outlines and instructional materials."

The office of education and representatives of the army, navy and civial aeronautics administration now are conferring to determine what the high schools can do immediately to speed the pilot training program, in view of the president's goal to produce 60,000 planes this year and 125,000 in 1943.

Studebaker outlined tentative plans agreed upon as follows

1. For the present semester, mathematics and physics taught before and after regular school hours.

2. Intensive refresher and pre-pilot training courses might be given in the summer schools

3 Next September a full semester's work in aeronautics should be offered in every high school in which as many as 15 prospective physically qualified air cadets can be enrolled.

Definite plans for the administration of such courses will be issued soon.

Residents along Glessner avenue near Sturges recently petitioned city council to place a traffic light at the intersection of the streets to safeguard children and other pedestrians. The chances are now that they might get three lights instead of just one Council has already appropriated $300 for a light but Mayor W. J. Locke yesterday sent to Councilman Clifford G. Knarr a plan for handling the traffic which would employ three traffic lights at a total cost of about $900 The plans were drawn up by the engineering division of a Syracuse firm which sells traffic lights Mayor Locke asked Knarr to submit the plan to his committee for consideration. Three streets intersect with Glessner near Sturges in less than the length of an ordinary block.

Local Red Cross staff assistance workers had a surprise awaiting them today when they leafed through the current issue of the Red Cross Courier, national publication. Although the name of the Richland county chapter and that of the writer, Mrs. Louis J. Ott, were not mentioned the volunteers recognized the brief article "Cryptograph of Mercy." The article was taken from Mrs. Ott's 500-word theme, "Keep 'Em Rolling," written for her staff assistance examination. The subject matter dealt with the makers of surgical dressings.

SENATOR SAYS CONTRACT TAX 'PROPER STEP'

Urges Action to Supplement Congressional Effort To Limit Arms Profit.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — A special tax on the income from military production contracts was proposed today by Chairman George (D-Ga) of the senate finance committee to supplement congressional efforts to limit war profits.

He termed such a special levy "a just and proper step." To include an increase in tax on non-military orders, he said, would be unfair.

A joint senate-house conference committee will take up the profit question later this month when it meets to consider amendments to a $19,212,000,000 military appropriation bill but George said it was his opinion that a practical curb on excessive earnings could be accomplished only through taxation.

Inclining to agree, Senator Rye (R.-ND) said the conference committee, of which he is a member, was likely to be hampered by fear that too drastic curbs on profits would slow war production.

"I, for one, am not going to agree to anything that will impede production," he said, "and there is some rather conclusive evidence that production officials believe a profit limitation would do just that."

These officials, including Donald M. Nelson, war production chief, will be called in when the conference committee seeks to compose senate and house differences.

The house voted a flat 6 per cent profit limitation on contracts left with funds provided in the $19,212,000,000 bill

With unenthusiastic acquiescence of Nelson and others, the senate on the other hand voted to vest a discretionary control over profits in the hands of key war program officials, authorizing them to re-negotiate any present of future contracts on which they suspected excessive profits were being made.

NAB ALIENS AT WRIGHT FIELD

FBI Finds Guns, Unreported Radios in Homes Close to Ohio Airports.

(By International News Service)

CINCINNATI — Eleven enemy aliens living in the vicinity of vital Wright and Patterson airfields at Dayton today were held by FBI agents, who raided their homes and seized unreported radios, guns, ammunition, cameras and binoculars.

According to R. C. Suran, special agent in charge of southern Ohio FBI headquarters, his men, using information furnished largely by Dayton police, also seized much Nazi literature

Eight of the aliens were German and three were Italians One of the Germans lived in Springfield. Nine of the eleven were women married to American citizens.

The arrests were made on search warrants issued by U. S. Commissioner Charles W. Ozias. Suran said that among the seized articles were a short wave radio, an oscillator capable of transmitting radio messages, 12 cameras, five shotguns, a pistol, much ammunition and six pairs of binoculars.

The Nazi literature included writings by Dr. Robert Ley, high Nazi leader, and Julius Streicher, Nazi anti-Jewish writer, as well as several paper bound copies of Hitler's "Mein Kampf."

All of the 11 were to be questioned by federal officials today. While it was said some of the women may have believed they did not have to report the articles because they were married to citizens, the FBI headquarters explained that the radio and other equipment in their possession was accessible to aliens and therefore should have been reported and turned in.

ROADS GETTING BUMPY AS WAR TAKES 'SMOOTHING' MATERIALS

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—If those Sunday afternoon drives—what there is left of them—are a little more bumpy than usual it is because the stuff that goes into smooth highways is going into the war effort.

A steady stream of heavy, mobile war equipment and trucks transporting materials to war plants is "hammering our highways to pieces" and, although "a reasonable amount" of resurfacing material is available now, it may not be for long, state highway officials believe.

Highway Director Hal G. Sours, who met with Ohio bituminous producers yesterday in an effort to determine prospects for the state's 1942 road resurfacing program, said that "some difficulty" already had been noted in obtaining deliveries of asphaltic materials.

"Transportation of materials is our biggest problem right now," Sours said. "Since so many tankers have been sunk the government has requisitioned more and more railroad tank cars for the transportation of gasoline and oil to the eastern seaboard."

Bituminous road resurfacing materials, which heretofore have been transported almost entirely by railroad tank cars, now are being carried by trucks.

In an effort to complete as much as possible on its resurfacing program before the transportation problem becomes more acute, the highway department is relaxing its construction regulations, Sours said.

Contractors who can not get immediate delivery on surfacing substances will be granted extensions on their contract time limits and all tank cars used to transport bituminous products will be released for re-use as soon after delivery as possible.

NAMED COACH

Burgett, Formerly at Butler, Accepts Delaware Post.

Bob Burgett, who resigned a year ago as athletic coach at Butler high school to join the staff of Delaware Willis high school, today was named head football coach of the Delaware school.

Burgett's very successful record as footbal and basketball coach of the Richland county school won him the position at Delaware several weeks before last year's county basketball tournament. His Butler Bulldogs were then leading the county league race, and went on to win both the league and tournament championships

At the time he left Butler, it was understood here that he had been tentatively promised the football coaching job at Delaware within a year. However it was announced today at Delaware that Coach Tom Denney had resigned because of his uncertain draft status.

Burgett is a graduate of Columbus North high school and Ohio State university

GETS CCC CALL

Relief Office Told Workers Needed By April 17.

Another call for CCC applicants was made today by Mrs. Agatha Leonard, registration director who urged youths between the ages of 17 and 23 to make application at the relief office at 146 Orange street before April 17.

Mrs. Leonard said that CCC workers are needed for defense work in western states where they are clearing submarginal land for the establishment and expansion of Army camps and training posts.

Applicants must sign up for a six-months' period and must bring their social security cards and birth certificates with them when they register. The next contingent to leave the city will be on April 20.

Mrs. Leonard said that CCC work would give youths not eligible for the draft an opportunity to aid their country and emphasized that applicants must be willing to work in western states.

BAKE FIGHTIN' FOOD!
This new wartime recipe serves 8 to 10 . . . for 6¢ or less per serving!
Here's a "fightin' food"... Complete recipe for Pillsbury's
INDIVIDUAL VEAL PIES
1. Flour 1 lb. raw veal cubes generously. Brown well in 2 Tbsps. fat; add 2 c. chopped onions and cook about 3 min. 2. Add ¾ c. thick sour cream (25%), 1 c. milk, 2½ tsps. paprika; ½ tsp. salt; ¼ tsp. pepper; mix well. 3. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about 30 min. Turn into individual baking dishes. MAKE BISCUIT DOUGH: 4. Sift and measure 2 c. Pillsbury's Best Enriched Flour. (The two added B-vitamins and iron in this superior flour help you give your family the food elements they need—the B-vitamins for sound nerves, good appetite, the ability to stand up under hard physical work, and iron to help build red blood. The flavor, appearance, and baking quality of Pillsbury's Best remain unchanged.) Add 3 tsps. baking powder (or 2 tsps. double-acting), ½ tsp. salt; sift together. 5. Cut in ¼ c. shortening till mixture is like coarse meal. 6. Add ¾ c. milk all at once; mix till flour is dampened. 7. Turn on floured board. Knead lightly a few seconds to smooth dough. (The tests we give Pillsbury's Best—actual baking tests, 4 to 6 times a day during milling—are your assurance of baking success, more than ever essential in these days when not one ingredient should be wasted.) 8. Roll out dough. Fit over baking dishes, scalling with fork. Gash crust. Brush with melted butter. 9. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) about 15 min. Serve hot.
When there's a job to be done, your men need "fightin' food!" And fightin' foods are hearty, vitamin-packed, economical foods—such as these delicious Veal Pies! EXPAND SYSTEM

City to Make Revisions at Sewage Disposal Plant.

Plans are being drawn up for expansion of the heating coils in the digestor system of the city's sewage disposal plant to speed up the treatment of sewage and increase the plant's capacity.

James R. Turner, plant superintendent, said today that the changes are being made in accordance with similar revisions being made in other treatment plants throughout the state. He estimated that the expansion of the coil system would cost about $600.

Service-Safety Director Fred B. Wolff approved plans for the improvement yesterday and said that advertisments for competitive bids will be made in the near future.

Turner explained that heat is necessary to speed up the treatment of sewage. The use of more heat in the digestor tanks, according to Turner, will accelerate the action of bacteria and chemicals used for sewage treatment.

CYCLIST LAUGHS AT TIRE RATION

BOSTON —(U.P.)— The rationing of automobile tires is no hardship to 87-year-old W. G. (Doc) Kendall.

For years the Boston sportsman has been preaching that the best way to keep fit is by riding a bicycle instead of motoring—and he has always practiced what he preached.

The other day, for the 54th time, he was elected captain of the Boston Bicycle club, the oldest cycling organization in America. Every year since 1888 "Doc" has participated in the club's annual "wheel around the Hub."

"I keep in shape," the octogenarian explains.

FULL FLAVOR Cooking brings compliments galore!

PINEAPPLE FRITTERS
Fried the Spry FULL FLAVOR way

1 cup sifted flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ cup sugar
1¼ teaspoons salt
1 egg, beaten
¾ cup milk
1 tablespoon Spry, melted
5 slices canned pineapple, drained and cut in quarters

Sift flour, baking powder, sugar and salt together. Combine egg and milk; add to dry ingredients, beating until smooth. Add Spry and mix well.

Dip pineapple pieces in batter and fry in deep hot Spry (375° F.) about 4 minutes. Test the fat (if you have no thermometer) with a 1-inch square of sliced bread and if it turns golden brown in 1 minute, the temperature is right for frying. Drain on absorbent paper. Serves 6.

REMEMBER: Spry is purer—does not smoke at proper frying temperatures. So don't wait for Spry to smoke before starting to fry.

(All measurements in this recipe are level)

EMILY M. LAUTZ home-making expert says: "Cooking the Spry FULL FLAVOR way means compliments for the cook. That's what I constantly hear from women at my Cooking Schools."

TIME and place below—come! Find out the amazing difference it makes when you bake and fry with purer Spry. Ordinary shortenings may "stifle" flavor, but purer Spry lets you get that FULL rich natural food flavor.

Just try these Pineapple Fritters and notice their true pineapple tang. So crispy and golden, too, so easy to digest. Do all your frying with Spry—baking, too!

PUTS JOB UP TO WAR INDUSTRIES

Hershey Aide Tells Them To Select Replacements For Eligible Draftees.

Indication came from Cleveland to Mansfield and other industrial cities today that plants busy with war orders will have the job of selecting replacements and workers for expanded programs from the ranks of women, older men, and those with physical defects.

Lieut. Commander E. B. Erickson, special representative of Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national draft head, told members and clerks of 300 draft boards from Stark, Summit and Cuyahoga counties that every healthy draftee eligible in war plants could count on being inducted unless his employer can prove he is irreplacable.

Draft boards have been instructed, Erickson said, to protect the key men essential in war industry by granting occupational deferments, but that boards must be satisfied with the employers' sincerity by adequately describing the various key jobs for which deferments are asked.

Erickson said that only 10 per cent of the total draft registration is now being inducted into the army, too low a percentage to provide the requirements of a large army, he said.

College Men Are Studying More Since War Began

HAMILTON, N. Y.—(INS)—Belief that war and its attendant problems are leading college men to devote more time to their studies was expressed by Dr. Carl A. Kallgren, Colgate university's dean of students, when he announced the Colgate Dean's List recently.

To support his belief, Dr. Kallgren pointed out that the current Dean's List includes a record percentage of seniors, 35 or 20 per cent of the institution's 175 seniors, having gained listing with scholarship quotients of 2.50 or above the equivalent of A minus averages or better. Nine of these seniors and ten of the 20 juniors on the list made perfect averages of 3.00 last semester.

JAC Amateur Tournament Gets Under Way Tonight

Sport Podge by Rex Hess

It seems the Art Rattans, with their faces wide open and innocence running amok in their hearts, journeyed to Columbus not so long ago for a bit of bowling with Ohio Bedding.

But all was not fluff and goose feathers in the downy-downy that evening. Ohio Bedding had stuffed the mattress with a couple of sleepers, and this pained the disillusioned, but artless, Art Rattans more than somewhat.

They took their trimming like little men, and then made this offer: "We will bowl you on our home alleys for 25 bucks on the one side."

* * *

Now if you have ever seen a bed spring, you should have seen the Ohio Beddings spring at that one. They jumped all over themselves. Never have a bunch of beds presented such a mess.

So back came the Art Rattans, no longer artless nor innocent, and presented their beef at Colony alleys with this plea:

"How about getting us a couple of ringers to match the sleepers these Ohio Beds spring on us?"

* * *

"There are a couple of fair country keglers known as Art Hilborn and Johnny Leppo who are always happy at the chance of flinging a marble down the lane," they were informed. "Perhaps you can get them to play with you."

* * *

"If we do we get a cussin'," said the Arts. "Okay, we do'd it."

So the Ohio Beds came to town, but first the Arts (Rattan and Hilborn) removed from the wall the City A-league averages which showed Leppo hitting a 199 and Hilborn 197, or something like that.

So Leppo is leading off, and Hilborn is anchor man, and between them the Art Rattans are hotter than a bed tick in July, and the Ohio Beds are getting hot too, but only under the collar.

Leppo proceeds to roll a 616 and Hilborn, who is perfectly relaxed and not half trying in this company, comes through with a 702.

Now this sort of thing does not go along for very many frames before the Beds wake up to the fact that it is the Easter season, but they do not blame Bunny Rabbit for the eggs that have been laid in their bedding.

They demand an adjustment on that 25 buck bet, and finally they get it down to two bucks per man and low man stuck for the bowling, which is not too good at that, the way the pins are falling.

But it is the best they can do, and they are still somewhat irked, and they say, by golly, they will go back and get the best bowlers in Columbus and they will show the Mansfield smarties what is what.

"Go ahead," says Hilborn, "and the Bissman Birdie Brands will roll 'em for 100 bucks on the one side, and no favors asked." And that is how the matter stands at present writing.

Another group of bowlers who appear not without their share of guile are the Commercial "C" league Buckeye Beers. After the league matches the other evening, four of the Buckeyes stuck around for one game on a buck bet.

Low man was Frank Beeber with 214. Paul Nollett had 221, Jim Villella 231, and Johnny Villella 243 for a 909 total. A deadhead line of 120 would have given them a team score of 1029.

How do these guys get in the C-league?

Schlitz Beers Beat Birdies

Handicap Boosts Total To 3139 in A-League.

Schlitz Beers took advantage of a 198-pin handicap to chalk up a 3139 total in the City A bowling league last night at Colony alleys while taking a 2-1 win over Bissman Birdie Brands.

Bissman's team dropped the first game on a 1020 count when the 66-pin handicap boosted the Schlitz score from 999 to 1065. The Birdies evened the match with 1010 to 961 in the second game, but the Beers needed no handicap to take the clincher, rolling 1046 actual and 1112 handicap score to Bissman's 961.

Goebel Beers, with a 69-pin handicap, turned in a 3008 total.

The A-leaguers were hot last night, marking up ten 600 scores, paced by Al Letteker's 676 on games of 172-268-236.

Dale Cleckner had 650, Art Hilborn 619, Dawson 603, George Percy 624, Carl Wiseman 623, Cliff Forsythe 647, Art Thomas 607, Brig Young 614, and Traxler 622.

GRIMES ILL.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. —(AP)— The Cleveland Indians took on the New York Giants today with one utility infielder—Russ Peters who has a broken nose. Oscar Grimes, veteran utility man who plays all infield posts, went home to Cleveland last night with a cold and 102-degree temperature. Peters was injured several weeks ago by a thrown ball.

SON DIES.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va.—(AP)— The death of Paul Derringer's baby son, Lucien Paul, makes it unlikely that the Cincinnati Reds' ace will pitch the season opener against the Pittsburgh Pirates Tuesday. He left the team for Sarasota, Fla., yesterday.

Tyger Runners Seek Revenge

Meet Columbus East In Meet Saturday.

Mansfield High school's vacationing track team will return to action Saturday afternoon at Stadium Field seeking revenge from a Columbus East squad of thinclads who handed them a 15-point defeat a year ago.

The meet, originally scheduled for Friday afternoon, was changed to Saturday when the Columbus team was unable to arrange transportation for the earlier date.

Little is known here of the strength of the Columbus team, but it is reported that East lost its star distance men of last year, while retaining most of its best men in the sprints and field events.

Coach Harry Mehock announced he will probably enter the Tyger trackmen in the same events in which they appeared a week ago while tying Newark 59-59.

OPS Keglers Enter Tourney

Two Mansfield Teams To Roll at Cleveland.

Two bowling quintets representing the Mansfield division of the Ohio Public Service company will be firing for the organization's A and B championships when they face 100 other OPS keglers from all parts of northern Ohio in the company's annual bowling tournament at Playhouse Square alleys, Cleveland, on April 11.

According to George W. Gump, league secretary of the local OPS keglers, the principal contenders for the individual championship from Mansfield are George Gump with an average of 181 for the season, Ralph Hazlett, 171, Harry Swimley, 169, Roy Vaughn, 165, and Harry Underwood, 161.

Twenty teams from the ten principal divisions of Ohio Public Service company will be entered in the tournament which is the company's major annual sporting event. The contest is being called Kennedy's Kegler Klassic in honor of T. O. Kennedy, company president.

Last year the Elyria A and B teams ran away with the competition, scoring 2646 in the A classic and 2535 in the B series. Frank Carbaugh of Warren took honors as No. 1 bowler with a 244 single game score and a 607 three-game score.

Prizes and trophies will be awarded to the winners at a banquet to be held at Hotel Statler following the tournament. Featured entertainment at that time will be sporting films on bowling and fishing.

B-League Golf Meeting Booked

News-Journal "B" league golfers will meet at Possum Run golf course next Thursday night at 7:30 to complete plans for the coming season.

* * *

The B-league is well set for the summer's campaign, having lost only one player, Merle Spurgeon, to the armed forces thus far. However, the league's secretary, Dick Treisch, is among those listed in the next draft call.

* * *

Sponsors and players are being urged to attend the meeting.

ANDERSON MOVES TO BOWLING GREEN

BOWLING GREEN —(AP)— W. Harold Anderson, head basketball coach at the University of Toledo, will become acting athletic director and basketball coach at Bowling Green university in June. He succeeds Harry Ockerman, on leave in a defense job. Anderson's Toledo teams won 141 games and lost 39 in eight years.

Boudreau Likes Fourth Picking

Bartell Says Tribe Has Good Ball Club.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. —(U.P.)— It was a rainy day of enforced loafing for the Cleveland Indians and New York Giants and Lou Boudreau, youthful Indian pilot, was speaking.

"I don't mind those writers picking our club for fourth place this season. That is where they should be picked," the peppery Boudreau remarked.

* * *

Then he added with a certain tone of confidence:

"I'm not saying, however, that they will finish there."

Lou firmly believes that the absence of the usual glaring preseason spotlight will help the Indians this year. He likened the situation to that of Jimmy Dykes' Chicago White Sox.

"Nobody ever expects the White Sox to go anywhere and they are agreeably surprised when they do. Maybe we'll be able to spring the same sort of a surprise," Boudreau said.

Dick Bartell, the fiery battle-scarred shortstop of the Giants who has seen service in both major loops, chimed in with his two cents worth of presumably unprejudiced analysis based on two weeks observation of the Indians this spring.

"The Indians are all right," Daring Dick asserted. "They won't win the pennant but they aren't as bad as a lot of people seem to think they will be. They've got a lot of good young pitchers and they've got Boudreau and his fight."

Bartell thinks the biggest Tribal weakness is in the outfield where, as he says, only thing is sure—Jeff Heath will hit.

"Weatherly is all right is he gets off on the right foot but you know how he is," Dick continued. "Right field doesn't look so good. I won't say that Hockett won't make it but you've got to be suspicious of a fellow who has spent eight years in the Minors."

The Indians and Giants try to play here today if the weatherman permits. They move to Evansville, Ind., tomorrow and into Cleveland Saturday.

HAVE YOUNGSTERS.

ENID, Okla. —(AP)— The Pittsburgh Pirates will field one of the youngest teams in the majors when the baseball firing begins in earnest next week.

Plans Made for 20 Bouts on First Card

Bob Timmons, Mansfield High Gridder, Enters At 150 Pounds

JUNIOR Association of Commerce committees in charge of the organization's annual amateur boxing tournament, have tentatively arranged for 20 bouts tonight at the high school gym as the fistic fest gets under way.

There may be more, or even fewer bouts on tonight's program, but entries, and promises of entries received thus far indicate that fans can expect in the neighborhood of 20 slugging bees.

Entries will not be closed until the boys report at 6 p. m. for weighing-in, which will be followed by first round pairings. An effort will be made to match the boys as evenly as possible in experience as well as weight. First fight is scheduled at 8 o'clock.

* * *

Additional entries received by Jim Morgan this morning included that of Bob Timmons, 150-pound guard of Mansfield high school's undefeated football team of last fall. Timmons had considerable experience as an amateur boxer in Columbus before moving to Mansfield, and is looked on as one of the favorites in his division.

Another definite Mansfield entry was that of Jimmy Jones, 190-pound heavyweight.

Paul Carbetta, last year's bantam champion now turned manager, announced he will have Ken Rudolph, Herm Shocker and Chet Miller in the tourney lists.

The NYA camp sent in five entries with the promise of probably four more. The entries filed are: Scott Chapman, 155, John Banks, 124, Victor Labrune, 126, Herbert Elright, 137, and Glenn Heston, 140.

From Ashley came the entry of Bert Perkins, 126.

Tomorrow night's final bouts, also at the high school, probably will start at 8:30. The time will be announced definitely tonight when the number of Friday bouts becomes known.

* * *

Officials tonight will be John Eichinger and Sam Morgan, referees, Gyp Miller, George Allerding and Paul Eliot, judges, Earl Culp, timekeeper, and Dick Olin, announcer.

Experts Favor Cards

St. Louis Picked 2-1 For National Loop Flag.

NEW YORK—(AP)—By a 2 to 1 margin, the experts today picked the St. Louis Cardinals to overthrow Brooklyn's Dodgers and win the 1942 National league pennant.

In the surprisingly one-sided vote, 46 of the 74 baseball writers, balloting in the annual Associated Press pennant poll tabbed the Cards to finish on top. One other writer, Jim Gould of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, couldn't make up his mind between the Cards and Cincinnati Reds, and split his ballot.

Only 23 picked the Dodgers to repeat their 1941 triumph in the senior circuit. Four forecast a return of the Reds to the top spot they held in 1939 and '40. No one could see the Cards worse than third, while four writers picked Brooklyn as low as fourth.

Those were the only three clubs drawing ballots for first place and the voting wound up in that order, with St. Louis piling up 563½ points on a basis of 8 for first-place vote, 7 for a second, 6 for a third, etc. Brooklyn had 515 and Cincinnati 434½.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, who brought up the rear of the first division in last year's pennant parade, were tabbed to do that again this time. Frank Frisch's boys were selected on three second-place ballots, 21 third and 32 fourth and compiled 375 points.

The second division voting wound up with New York, Chicago, Boston and (you guessed it) Philadelphia's Phillies in that order. There was quite a scramble for fifth place, with the Giants, under Mel Ott's brand new management, winning out, 290 to 244.

* * *

Naturally, there was no argument for the cellar. In fact, only four of the 74 writers had the Phils in seventh place. One hardy citizen, however, saw them as high as fifth in his crystal ball.

Indians' Game Time Scrambled

CLEVELAND—There will be five different starting times for games played at home by the Cleveland Indians this year, it was announced by Roger Peckinpaugh, vice president and general manager.

So many different starting times are necessary, according to Peckinpaugh, because of the Cleveland club's desire to make the games available to workers in defense plants in this territory.

Here is the schedule of starting times for the Indians' games:

Week-days—4 p. m.
Saturdays—2 p. m.
Sundays—3 p. m.
Double-headers—1:30 p. m.
Night games—9:15 p. m.

A special effort is being made to cater to defense workers at week-day games, when all games will start at 4 o'clock, thus giving workers who quit on the 3 o'clock shifts plenty of time to get from their plants to League park for the start of the games.

With only one or two exceptions all week-day games, except where they fall on holidays, are scheduled for League park, which is located closer to the city's defense plants than the Stadium. All Sunday, holiday and night games and a few Saturday games are to be held in the Stadium.

Wolverine Sets Scoring Record

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(INS)—Jim Mandler, Michigan basketball center, is accredited with having established a new all-time Wolverine scoring record in Big Ten competition — having tallied 164 points in 15 conference games.

In addition, the junior pivotman—who hails from Chicago, led all scorers with a total of 230 points on the Michigan 20-game hardwood card. Next closest contenders for high-tally honors were Bill Cartmill and Leo Doyle, with 121 and 113 points for the season, respectively.

The old Michigan conference scoring record, established over the previous 12-contest route, was 135 points chalked up by John Townsend in 1938. The latter mark had shattered Bennie Oosterbaan's 129-point record which stood for 10 years.

Dykes Magic Receives Test

White Sox Have Chance To Climb In Loop Race.

(By Wide World)

Mister Jimmy Dykes, the Man With The Cigar, is not yet fully qualified for the Master Baseball Magician's Union, although consensus is that Dykes' feats of legerderman in developing good pitchers out of castoffs certainly should qualify him.

The Chicago White Sox pilot has not yet discovered the formula for taking a .250 hitter and turning him into one of .300 proportions Especially in wholesale cases, which is what Dykes must do if the Pale Hose are to come up with any balance between offense and defense this year.

That the Sox will win few batting honors is certain as they head home from Pasadena. However, there are a couple rays of sunshine in the clouded perspective of the Sox chances this year.

The sacrifice of Mike Kreevich bought Wally Moses and his .301 average from Philadelphia, and Don Kolloway, willowy second sacker, perked up considerably in spring exhibition games.

Dykes doesn't expect Kolloway to lay down a constant barrage but he has reason to believe the youngster will get more distance into his blows.

There's a pretty fair chance that the White Sox will step up a notch to second place this season, but they'll have to accomplish it with the same personnel used in 1941. With the exception of Moses—who is no Godsend, incidentally—there will be no new faces this summer unless Dykes effects a timely purchase, preferably a hard-hitting outfielder.

Light-hitting, slick-fielding Joe Kuhel will be at first, Kolloway at second, Luke Appling at short and Dario Lodigiani at third, with Bob Kennedy and Bill Knickerbocker as infield reserves. Of the bunch, only Appling's .314 average augers any offensive dynamite.

Mike Tresh will handle the catching duties capably and Moses, Taft Wright, whose .322 last year made him the Sox' best hitter, and Myril Hoag, will form the outfield. Veteran Sam West is in reserve.

However, if the Sox can't hit they at least have the means to keep the other guys from hitting. Exhibit "A" is Thornton (Lefty) Lee, winner of 22 games last season and the league's best now that Feller is wearing navy blue.

Then there are Johnny Rigney, ready to reach stardom, Bill Dietrich, Ageless Ted Lyons, who can still win at least every other week. Johnny Humphries, and Edgar Smith.

Summed up, the Pale Hose are good, but not good enough to constitute a pennant threat unless the Yankees suffer a prolonged epidemic of shin-splints.

THE BATTLE OF TIME

WHEN a man starts to work for the Erie Railroad the first lesson he learns is the importance of time. Time is money, he is told. The Erie creed says the freight must go through safely and on time. Today time is more than money. Time is everything! An hour saved is an hour gained for Victory.

War materials are valueless on a shipping platform. It is only after they have been transported to where they are needed that they become priceless. Erie is doing its part to win the Battle of Time by providing fast, efficient transportation.

THEATERS

Absorbing Drama.

The clash of ideas and ideals between individuals and generations before the turn of the century is depicted in "Kings Row," picturization of Henry Bellamann's widely-read novel at the Ohio. Robert Cummings and Ronald Reagan have leading roles as sons of the town whose love affairs with the daughters of doctors are destined to be ill-fated. Betty Field appears opposite Cummings whose fancy is later captured by Kaaren Verne as a Viennese beauty. Ann Sheridan plays a young woman from the wrong side of the tracks who turns out to be the right girl for Ronald Reegan. Judith Anderson, Claude Rains, Charles Coburn and Maria Ouspenskaya are other players.

China Thrills.

An American girl with a special reason for wanting to reach Chungking from Rangoon in a hurry meets up with a fellow countryman who aids her in "A Yank on the Burma Road," showing at the Madison. The Yank is a former New York cab driver now leading a fleet of trucks on the famed Burma road. Barry Nelson and Laraine Day portray the leading roles and Keye Luke and Knox Manning are in the supporting cast. "On the Sunny Side," featuring Roddy McDowall is the second attraction.

Oakie Starred.

Jack Oakie and George Murphy are featured in "Rise and Shine," the top attraction at the Ritz. William Boyd's western, "Outlaw of the Desert," shares the bill.

Webster Legend.

A young farmer down on his luck bargains with the devil to obtain prosperity for seven years in "All That Money Can Buy," the Park attraction based on Stephen Vincent Benet's story, "The Devil and Daniel Webster." Edward G. Arnold plays the silver-tongued Daniel Webster, who aids the young man when the reckoning comes, and David Craig has the part of the farmer. Ann Shirley and Walter Huston are in the cast. "Obliging Young Lady," a comedy romance is the co-attraction.

Horror Classic.

The story of a young scientist who submerges his own personality to prove his professional theory that good and evil predominates in all men is told in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," Spencer Tracy's starring vehicle at the Majestic. Ingrid Bergman and Lana Turner are in the cast of this Robert Louis Stevenson horror classic. "The Masked Phantom" is the second attraction.

DEADLINE SET

Navy Fixes May 1 as Final For Reserve Midshipmen.

Mansfield youths between the ages of 19 and 28 wishing to apply for reserve midshipmen training in the U. S. Naval Reserve will have to do so before May 1, according to information received here today by the Mansfield's recruiting department.

Chief Petty Officer William G. Cox, who is in charge of the Mansfield recruiting department, said he had received notice that Class V-7, which calls for a college degree with at least two one-semester courses in college mathematics and another in plane trigonometry, will be closed to applicants about May 1.

Cox said that college juniors or seniors regularly enrolled may be enlisted in Class V-7 prior to graduation provided they submit certificates from the registrar of their schools that they will have the required educational qualifications upon graduation.

Upon termination of Class V-7, applicants will be taken in for reserve midshipmen training only through Class V-1, which calls for an accredited college program.

2—Card of Thanks

WITH REGARD TO A CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The News-Journal meets a need which can hardly be solved in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes, but also courteously acknowledges the service and kindness of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed, or whose names or addresses are not known.
A "Card of Thanks" can now be arranged by telephone: Dial 4251-6, ask for Miss Lane or Miss Stone, either will be glad to render whatever service and advice you need.

WESTINGHOUSE HITS NEW LOW OF FOUR YEARS

Bear News Keeps Market on Downward Route, Many Stocks Hit Skids.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Bearish interpretations of the news kept today's stock market on the downward route.

In the retreating division, a few touching new 4-year lows were Westinghouse, Johns-Manville, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, Zenith Radio, U. S. Rubber, Western Union, DuPont, Eastman Kodak, General Foods, Philip Morris and International Harvester. Rails were narrow, as were oils and utilities.

Tending to chill sentiment were bulletins telling of Japanese victories in the Philippines, the sinking of two British cruisers in the Indian ocean and threats to other Far Pacific strongholds. Buying handicaps also were seen in further governmental controls, the cloudy tax outlook and the probability many corporations would be forced to cut or eliminate dividends.

Market followers studied the survey of the Engineering News-Record which disclosed that, in the face of drastic building restrictions just announced by the W. P. B., heavy construction awards this week were the third largest of the year to date. The aggregate was placed at 130 per cent over the preceding week and 77 per cent above the corresponding 1941 period.

BOMBERS LEAVE CITY IN RUINS

Casualties Estimated at More Than 5,000 in Mandalay Attack.

Roads leading from the city in every direction are choked with evacuees. Some are leaving on foot, others in ox carts. All are fleeing with but a single thought in mind—to escape the Japanese terror of the skies.

American missionaries provided as much succor as possible for the wounded. Converting the Baptist school into a temporary hospital they brought victims from the bomb area by car and truck.

Two of the relief leaders were Frederick Dickason of Wooster, O., a former lecturer at Rangoon's Judson college, and D. O. Smith of Long Beach, Cal. They took over a hotel where in a short time, they had 50 Indian and Burmese men, women and children lying seriously wounded on the floor.

GIVEN FUNDS

Richland County to Receive $149,740 as Car Tag Share.

Richland county and its cities and villages will receive a total of $149,750 in an allocation of motor vehicle license fees made today in Columbus, according to C. W. Wallace, state registrar of motor vehicles.

The funds were obtained from the sale of 1943 license plates and represent the first and largest allocation to be made this year. Because a number of districts need money for road and street repairs, the distribution is being made a week ahead of schedule, Wallace said.

Allocated on the basis of motor vehicle registrations, the money is ear-marked for road, bridge and street construction and repairs. This first distribution is approximately the same size as the first one made last year, Wallace said.

Mansfield will seceive $83,100 while $44,500 will go into the county road and bridge fund. Shelby will get $13,000 for its street department.

Allocations county villages included: Bellville, $2,500; Butler, $1,150; Lexington, $1,350; Lucas, $1,100; Plymouth $1,700; Shiloh, $1,050 and South Boulevards $300.

New Delhi Reports Cripps, Congress Agreement as Good as Reached.

As a result of reports circulated throughout the country that the British government and the Congress party had finally come to terms, President Roosevelt's personal minister to India, Louis Johnson, was characterized by commentators as "the hero of the hour."

Johnson, who arrived late last week, took an increasingly prominent part in the negotiations and this evening's issue of the Nationalist newspaper, the Bombay Sentinel, described him as a "super Cripps."

Throughout his talks with Cripps and Nationalist leaders, Johnson's attitude was reported to have been to this effect: "Better to pay the price for Congress' cooperation than to risk the future."

The formula on the defense issue reportedly reached by Cripps, Johnson and Congress leaders was said to provide for a clear division of functions, with General Sir Archibald P. Wavell, now British commander for India, to be supreme commander for conduct of the war under a war cabinet while an Indian defense minister acting under the authority of the projected Indian National government would be war minister.

Cripps and Johnson were believed to be eager that Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru of the Congress party agree to be defense minister.
